Hostile Senate Is Given World Court Protocol

Advice Of Leaders,

MAY FORCE HOLDING OF EXTRA SESSION

Court Issue May Also Threaten Hoover's Gi-gantic Program
For Relief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The chaos in which the Senate has labored for two days over President Hoover's accusations that some of its members were "playing politics at the expense of human misery" was intensified and given new impetus today by the injection of the controversial World Court issue.

In submitting the issue at this time, President Hoover disregarded the advice of the leaders of every faction in the Senate, Republican, Democratic and Insurgent, who warned him that such action might imperil his own program of economic relief legislation and perhaps force an extra session of the 72nd
Congress early in the spring.

Hoover Expresses Hope
Mr. Hoover's answer to these pleas was to transmit the protocols with an accompanying message expressing the hope that the issue
"may have consideration as soon as possible after the emergency relief and appropriation legislation has been disposed of."

Whether the Court will be voted upon at this session appeared prob-

PA NEW OBSERVES

A North Mercer street lady suggests that there should be a home for stray animals. Anyone desiring a pet could come there and make their selection.

To the workmen who are building a new chimney on the old central fire department building, East street
—Be sure to make it large enough for Santa Claus to get through in case he decides to leave some soap and a bucket of water with which city employees can wash the windows of the building. Those windows have been waiting patiently for a long time.

It is believed by a worker in one of the local charitable organizations that in ten years from now all charities in each city will combine and there will be one large organization for the needy people to visit for help. This would eliminate much red tape and the possibility of certain families getting more help than they should be getting.

Workmen on the Perry highway out at Grant City are taking advantage of the good weather and are making great headway on the new viaduct over the creek there and over the railroad tracks. At the rate they are going the construction should be completed in a reasonable time. However, supplies haven't been received as promptly as they are needed, this causing some delay.

The bridge at Rock Springs will be a material thing before long, also.

A duet of old timers were discus-ing their times with each other Wednesday morning at the corner of Washington and Mercer streets. "No sir!
Nothin' is like it used to be. No sir!

STINGING REBUKE CAUSES BITTERNESS

Hoover's $110,000,000 Fund Termed Nothing But "Futile Gesture"

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—All signs of harmony between the White House and congress having vanished, the old Democratic-Insurgent coalition of the senate today opened fire on President Hoover's first relief measure, a $110,000,000 appropriation for speeding construction of public works.

The coalition assailed the president for representing the bill as a direct appropriation from the treasury for relief of unemployment in the states. Its leaders pointed out that $80,000,000 of the fund would be merely "loaned," repaid by reductions of future allotments, and made available only if states furnished like sums. Both Insurgents and Democrats characterized it as a "futile gesture toward relief."

The alliance also centered fire on a provision giving the president power to interchange the appropriations named from one use to an-

GIVE DETAILS OF DEATH OF BURKE

(International News Service)
WHITE HORSE, Yukon, Dec. 11.— Suffering from hunger and ex-posure after their rescue from the frozen Yukon wilderness, Emil Kading and Robert Marten today told the details of their two months' fight for existence which brought the death of Captain E. J. A. Burke.
Vancover flier.

Captain Burke, pilot of the plane in which Kading and Marten rode, was forced to land his plane in the heart of the Upper Laird River district October 10. Unable to take the plane into the air again after it was damaged in a takeoff, the three men set out to find food and shelter.

On November 20, Captain Burke died of hunger and exposure and his two companions buried the body about forty miles from Wolf Lake.
The grave, they said, was marked by a pile of stones and timbers.
An attempt will soon be made to recover Captain Burke's body from the wilderness grave, according to press plans.

Pilot W. E. Wasson, one of the searching aviators, rescued the two survivors, returning here with them yesterday. Both men were given medical treatment upon their arrival here. Beyond a weakened condition from lack of food and exposure they were in fair health, physicians said.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Einstein, the thinker, arrived in the United States today.

Professor Albert Einstein, who probes unfraught into the machinery of the universe, comes bashfully, almost timidly, knowing with his sensitive imagination that he must face the curiosity of America.

In his study or laboratory there is nothing to be afraid of. Lining up time and space is a quiet business. Working out theories is un-disturbing. The laws of mathematics, gravitation or electro-magnetism do not shout, blow horns, whistle or give forth flashlights.

But Einstein, the human question mark, must face the cheerful welcoming din of New York Harbor when he arrives today aboard the Liner Belgenland with Frau Einstein.

Faces Big Test
He must run or walk the gauntlet of newspaper photographers whose probable knowledge of the Einstein theory or relativity concerns an ambition to take a picture of it.

Then there will be the battalion of newspapermen who will hurl questions at him. They will probably try their best to find out an Americanese explanation for the rela-

SWICK IS CONFIDENT OF FUNDS FOR RIVER PROJECT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Confidence that actual appropriations will be made for improving the Beaver, Shenango and Mahoning rivers during the present session of congress as a part of the proposed Ohio river-Lake Erie canal was voiced today by Rep. Swick (R) of Pennsylvania, author of a bill for a survey of the rivers.

The river survey, after being largely completed by army engineers in the field, was returned to them for more information on the probable traffic to be carried on the rivers.

Mr. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, has promised to expedite the report, indicating it will be ready for congress this session.
Rep. Dempsey (R) of New York, chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee, has promised to accelerate necessary legislation.

"We will try to get the project approved so that appropriations can be made this session. I am confident it can be done," said Swick.
"The interests behind this great project are now unified. There is a strong demand from the third greatest industrial section in the world for it."

Although rivers and harbors bill was passed last session, with the understanding there would not be a general bill for three or four years, a special bill probably will be proposed for the project.

Two Are Injured As Car Overturns

Orville Potter And Dr. Rosenthal In Accident Near Portersville

Orville Potter, secretary of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross and chairman of the Mayor's Relief Committee, and Dr.
H. H. Rosenthal, district deputy commander of the American Legion in Lawrence county, narrowly es-morning, when the Rosenthal car in which they were enroute to the Veterans Bureau, in Pittsburgh, turned turtle on the Butler highway, this side of Portersville.

Mr. Potter sustained minor injuries of the ankles, back and head, while Dr. Rosenthal escaped injury. The car was badly wrecked.
The accident according to Dr.
Rosenthal occurred, when the car skidded after he had successfully passed a parked car and a car approaching in the opposite direction at a high rate of speed.

The car finally skidded in such a manner, that the car upset, landing top down and all four wheels in the air, with the two men imprisoned inside. Help was secured and they were released, fortunately little the worse of their experience.

They did not complete the trip to Pittsburgh, but returned here.

tion of Irene Schroeder,
"Blond Gun Girl," and Glenn Dague convicted of first degree murder in the Lawrence county courts, for January 12.

Little Hope For Clemency

Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—Hopes for clemency which may have been entertained by Irene Schroeder, convicted murderer, for executive clemency at the hands of Governor John S. Fisher went glimmering today when the executive set January 12 1931, as the date for her execution in the death chair at Rockview penitentiary.

Action Expected

The Governor's action had been expected momentarily when dispatches were received here stating that the prothonotary of Lawrence county, where Irene and Glenn Dague were convicted for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the State Highway Patrol, had forwarded certified records of the case

Coincident with setting of the

Upon entering the dining room, the long tables decorated in tones in keeping with the approaching season, which were centered all along with miniature Christmas trees and tall red tapers in artistic green holders, greeted the eyes of the guests, and proved very inviting. Following the serving of a sumptuous menu, the regular meeting was called promptly at 2 o'clock. The election of officers formed the important part of the business matters, and while the tellers were making progress, a short memorial service, that was indeed most impressive, was held. This was followed by Mrs. Carmi Glover reciting "Crossing the Bar" with piano accompaniment played by Mrs. W. C. Eckenrode.

The meeting at this time was turned over to Mrs. W. C. Eckenrode, who had charge of the program. The first feature was a choir of nine ladies who sang, and Mrs. David G. #### Civic Music Association Hears Margherita Salvi

A little bit of old Castile was brought to New Castle music lovers Wednesday evening in the Senior High school auditorium. Not a very large portion perhaps for Margherita Salvi, coloratura of the Chicago Opera is just a winsome little girl in size. But in voice the young lady looms large and where all that volume came from was one of the things that kept the audience interested in her last golden note.

Her garb was typical of the country of her birth, Spain. A rough description from a mere man who doesn't know too much about such things is that it was a flame velvet costume gown, very bouffant, overlaid with a black brocade, with a mantilla to complete the effect. If that description isn't right, go ahead and sue.

A superlative voice. Miss Salvi is one of the recent finds of the Chicago Civic Opera. Young in years she has had a wide experience that has taken her into the opera house of Paris and Brussels, of Melbourne and Rio and her appearance here Wednesday evening was a musical oasis in a desert of radio concerts.

She has a superlative voice. Fresh and true and vibrant. New Castle has probably never heard more dulcet flute like tones from the human throat, along with such clearly articulated and bewildering delivery, freedom from effort, artistry at its very best. Her program included numbers in French, English, Italian and Spanish.

Accompanying Miss Salvi was Harold Van Horne of Chicago. His accompaniments were part of the reason for Miss Salvi's success. An accomplished musician in his own right, he has the happy faculty of being able to accompany without intruding his accompaniment upon singer's art.

During the intermission Paul Browne Patterson, president of the Civic Music Association gave a brief history of the present series of concerts and announced the next two concerts. Beatrice Harrison, world's greatest woman cellist comes on January 23 and Attilio Baglioni, tenor of the Milan Royal Opera Company follows later.

The program of Margherita Salvi follows:

GIVE THE WOMEN CREDIT

THEY fuss and fret and stew all around trying to find gifts to please the men. And it takes a lot of their time. But it's all unnecessary!

Every man ought to come out flat-footed and tell his women-folks that, after all, nothing tickles a man like a box of good cigars. He can't get too many of them. Tell your wives and sisters, "I've got plenty of doodads and trinkets. And if I need any more, I'll buy them myself. Just give me cigars. That's all I want."

And while you're about it, you might slip in a word on Bayuk "Phillies." Tell them "Phillies" are the cigars men buy for themselves. That's because "Phillies" are made of ripe tobacco. Not under-ripe, bitter top leaves. Or over-ripe, flavorless bottom ones. Just calm, cool, smooth-smoking middle leaves.

Tell the women they needn't spend a lot of money on you. Cigars are inexpensive—even good cigars like Bayuk "Phillies." So why not get them? Especially when that's what you want.

BAYUK "PHILLIES" FOR CHRISTMAS

Bayuk "Phillies" are ready-wrapped for Christmas-giving. This picture shows the wrapping on the 25 and 50 box. You can also get the natural cedar-wood box of 50; and a small package of 10—wrapped and ready to give. Standard sizes. Popular prices.

packages featured the evening program. Games and informal conversation while away the hours after which the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Edna Ricer, served a delicious lunch. January 5 Mrs. Jane Johnson of East New Castle will entertain with Mrs. Emily Kalajainen as associate hostess.

BUILDING SHIPS

THERE was cause for national rejoicing when the keel for a new 30,000-ton ocean liner was laid at Camden, N. J., inaugurating a new era for the American merchant marine and for American participation in ocean commerce.

Great significance must be attached to the fact that this vessel will be the largest of its kind ever built in the United States, and to the additional fact that it is the first American liner designed for the trans-Atlantic service in a number of years. The laying of this keel renews the national hope that the United States may soon again regain the maritime supremacy it maintained in the old days of the clipper ships.

These merchant marine hopes are not inspired by patriotism alone, the fact that Americans pay $1,100,000,000 a year for transportation on the high seas, of which only $360,000,000 remains in this country being reason enough for America becoming a large ocean carrier and for the federal subsidy which is making this ship subsidy possible.

This liner and its sister ship, soon to follow, will cost a total of $20,000,000. Materials for their construction will come from 43 states, giving employment to hundreds of men in addition to those working in the ways. Thus do the benefits of the ship subsidy multiply.

WORLD COURT MEMBERSHIP

A petition from an influential group of Ohio citizens, asking the senate to let the United States into the World Court, as requested by President Hoover, seems to express the reasons therefore unusually well. It says:

"The promptness with which the signatory nations unconditionally accepted four of the five senate reservations in 1926, and the equally prompt and generous spirit in which in 1929 they accepted the Root formula for agreement with the fifth senate reservation, in our judgment, having regard to the customary amenities of international intercourse, call for action without further delay on the part of senate. If it be thought by any that there is any danger to the peace and safety of our country involved in the rendering of advisory opinions by the court, assuredly the right of withdrawal at any time at our discretion, as provided for in the Root formula, should be ample protection for the most powerful nation in the world against such danger.

"Permit us to add that we think the course of patriotic wisdom is to take some risks—even great risks—if necessary to advance the cause of permanent peace in the world, as we are convinced that participation in the World Court of Justice would advance it."

There are good grounds for believing that a majority of the American people are in favor of this step. The senate will debate it again, long and bitterly, and probably accept it in the end as it accepted the London naval treaty.

STALIN STAGES A FARCE

As pointed out the other day, the trial of the eight engineers in Moscow had all the earmarks of a stage effect. The earlier scenes savored of melodrama; the last was pure farce. Stalin, like other despots, realizes the importance of keeping the people amused; if in this case he cannot give them bread, he can at least give them circuses. The charges of treason against the defendants were serious enough at first sight, though the accusation of plotting with France, Great Britain and other countries was obviously untrue; they represented, so to say, the villain of the play, who met an untimely end before it was over. If the audience enjoyed the show, no less did the actors, from the judge down; the court proceedings were as free and easy as in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury," and it would not have been surprising if the prosecuting attorney had begun by singing

"When I, good friends, was called to the bar I'd an appetite hale and hearty."

The topsy-turvy nature of the proceedings might be illustrated at length were it worth while. Thus the alleged chief intermediary between Ramsin and the French government was a man who has been dead six years. How could anyone be put to death, even in Russia, for such an obvious falsehood? Plainly the only course for the accused to follow, if they wished to escape immediate execution, was to create a diversion which would take the minds of the proletariat from the sufferings the Five Year Plan has entailed. Do you want the gobbles-uns to get you? Then tighten your belts and defy the crafty enemies of the new Utopia. Let us have a little "criminal sabotage," incited by these enemies, to explain why Utopia isn't working as well as it ought.

Five of the eight conspirators were sentenced to death only to have the penalty changed to imprisonment instead. In view of the many wholesale executions of offenders against the government, this unusual leniency further suggests the farcical nature of the whole proceedings. And who believes that Stalin's actors in the Moscow spectacle will have to serve out their terms?—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Many of the "saps" who are so nutty about dogs expect the neighbors to furnish parking and romping grounds for them, as well as for their illbred children whose behavior reveals no more training than that of the dogs, and when you resent their ruthless invasion, these same birds prefer to gnash their teeth a la Fido, instead of respecting your property rights.

THE BIG BALLOON ASCENSION

Remember the days of the Big Balloon Ascensions?
We had them in our town and they were the most exciting days in the year—more exciting than the Fourth of July, more exciting than Christmas. And what's more they deserve to be!

Think of it! A balloon was going to be filled with gas! A man was going to go up with that balloon! He was going to cut himself loose and come down with a parachute! Something might happen! He might even be killed!

Everybody in town was there helping to fill the Big Bag—hanging around—talking things over—criticizing the arrangements—giving a hand—hanging on the ropes—being important!

There swung the bag over the open fire slowly filling with gas, swaying and belling in the breeze. What was that stuff that fellow was throwing on the fire—gasoline or kerosene? Must be kerosene. Anyway, it filled the bag.

Look at that bag now, pulling away, yearning toward the heavens, impatient to be free. Gosh! Suppose a kid got caught in one of the ropes and was pulled up with the balloon! What would happen to HIM? How could he escape? You'd better be careful, you kids.

And where was the Marvelous Death-Defying Balloon Jumper? Had anybody seen him? Maybe he's lost his nerve. Maybe there wouldn't be any Balloon Ascension after all. Aw, don't you worry, he'll be there, all right. And of course he WAS there! Just five minutes before the awful hour of 2 o'clock sharp he arrived. . . . and he was disappointing! He walked with a springing, ungraceful stride of the trapeze performer on the ground, but he was so skinny—his legs were so thin. . . . his knees knocked. . . . his thighs were shabby and stained. . . . didn't LOOK like a hero, he looked like a "common man."

He stood around, he tested ropes, he spread his parachute out and attached it to the big bag, he told everybody to let go when he gave the word, he waited and he waited and he waited—that Common Man who was about to do an uncommon thing. . . . And finally he left us with a whoop and a swirl and a leap of his heart with dancing ropes, before 2,000 pale and upturned faces he left us. Waving his hands, dangling by his knees, while a trumpet blew and a big drum went boom-boom-boom, that ordinary fellow left us for the perilous skies.

Up and up and up he went, hanging below that gas filled bag, and then—just as we thought he was leaving us forever—he cut himself loose and his wide parachute bloomed like a great flower against the blue heaven and he floated casually down and landed way over on the Salspuedes road by the Stillman place—and his bag flapped and flopped and poured out gas and turned over and over and fell in an oak tree half a mile further on, and frightened a cow out of giving any milk that night.

And we all ran out the road to meet the Marvelous Fellow and when he came riding back with his parachute and his bag we started—and we stared—and we stared. He looked so ordinary, but he'd done this amazing thing. He looked just like Anybody Else, but he'd gone up in a balloon! We couldn't make him out—so we just looked at him!

And I, for one, have been looking at him ever since. I've seen him a thousand times since that far-off day. I see him in common, unimpressive faces everywhere and whenever I do I say to myself: "He looks like a commonplace fellow, but you never can tell. He might go up in a balloon some day. He might do something brave. He may be a hero inside. You never can tell about people!"

He might do something brave. He may be a hero inside. You never can tell about people!"

Up and up and up he went, hanging below that gas filled bag, and then—just as we thought he was leaving us forever—he cut himself loose and his wide parachute bloomed like a great flower against the blue heaven and he floated casually down and landed way over on the Salspuedes road by the Stillman place—and his bag flapped and flopped and poured out gas and turned over and over and fell in an oak tree half a mile further on, and frightened a cow out of giving any milk that night.

And we all ran out the road to meet the Marvelous Fellow and when he came riding back with his parachute and his bag we started—and we stared—and we stared. He looked so ordinary, but he'd done this amazing thing. He looked just like Anybody Else, but he'd gone up in a balloon! We couldn't make him out—so we just looked at him!

And I, for one, have been looking at him ever since. I've seen him a thousand times since that far-off day. I see him in common, unimpressive faces everywhere and whenever I do I say to myself: "He looks like a commonplace fellow, but you never can tell. He might go up in a balloon some day. He might do something brave. He may be a hero inside. You never can tell about people!"

Aunt Lizzie Has First Taste Of Deer Meat In Her Ninety-Two Years

Although she remembers the days when herds of deer were common sights in the woods and along the streams of Lawrence county; days when hunters did not have to leave the county to bag a deer for dinner; days when deer was a very ordinary dish on the supper table; it wasn't until this week that Mrs. E. C. Pattison of the Youngstown road, tasted deer meat.

Aunt Lizzie Pattison is over 92 years of age and as spry and healthy as women half that age. She has lived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Cearfoss for the past 72 years. She was born at Rose Point.

The other day, when Mrs. Cearfoss set the table, a surprise was in store for Aunt Lizzie. There was a not, sizzling and juicy piece of deer in the large roaster. It was removed from the oven and set before Aunt Lizzie.

The taste was very satisfactory!

The love of fame usually spurs on the mind.—Ovid.

Sunday Sport Bill Coming Up In Legislature

State Senator Harvey Of Wilkes-Barre Will Seek Repeal Of Blue Laws

PHILADELPHIANS TO SUPPORT MEASURE

By HAROLD E. MYERS,
International News Service
Sports Writer
HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—Will fans of the diamond witness professional Sunday baseball next season? State Senator Lanning Harvey, of Wilkes-Barre will introduce to the forthcoming session of the legislature, a measure repealing the Blue Laws of 1794, and will advance a "home rule" on a tentative Sunday sports program.

Professional major and minor league baseball may be played on Sunday next season, but of course, it is problematical and depends largely upon Senator Harvey's successfully piloting the measure through the House and Senate. For several years this subject has been a controversial topic throughout Pennsylvania. It has been discussed in and out of court and many times have been paid for illegally playing of ball on the Sabbath.

Senator Harvey's bill will have plenty of followers, and most assuredly will bring Philadelphia legislators into the fold, because the Quaker city delegates to the legislature have pledged to a sport program, following the agitation there last season.

Pittsburgh and Allegheny county members will be interested in the measure, while practically every legislator from the anthracite region is expected to move along with Senator Harvey's bill.

Central Pennsylvania counties, including York, Lycoming, Luzerne, Perry and Dauphin, want Sunday baseball, and with Philadelphia and Pittsburgh's added strength, it looks quite a formidable move.

Optimistically speaking, the measure stands a healthy chance of being given the official "OK" if it reaches the desk of Governor Pinchot. However, the "tall forester's" attitude toward the proposed measure has not been indicated. If the bill is vetoed, it probably would be impossible to muster enough strength to pass it over the governor's head, because of the voting strength in the agricultural district, which is always set for a strict observance of the Sabbath.

However, the path of the bill will not be strewn with roses, for it will be opposed by the Ministerial Association of Pennsylvania. The association has consistently resisted any new measures or amendments designed to liberalize the Blue Laws.

It is understood the proposed measure will not provide for a wide-open Sunday, nor will it demand as close observance as that now existing. The "home rule" feature of the measure will allow municipalities to accept a vote of the people on the bill, thus granting the towns asking a more liberal government of the day, their request.

VIOLENCE
Tom: Was he violent when you told him you wanted to marry his daughter?

Sam: Violent! I should say so. Why, he nearly shook my hand off.—Stratford, England, Beacon.

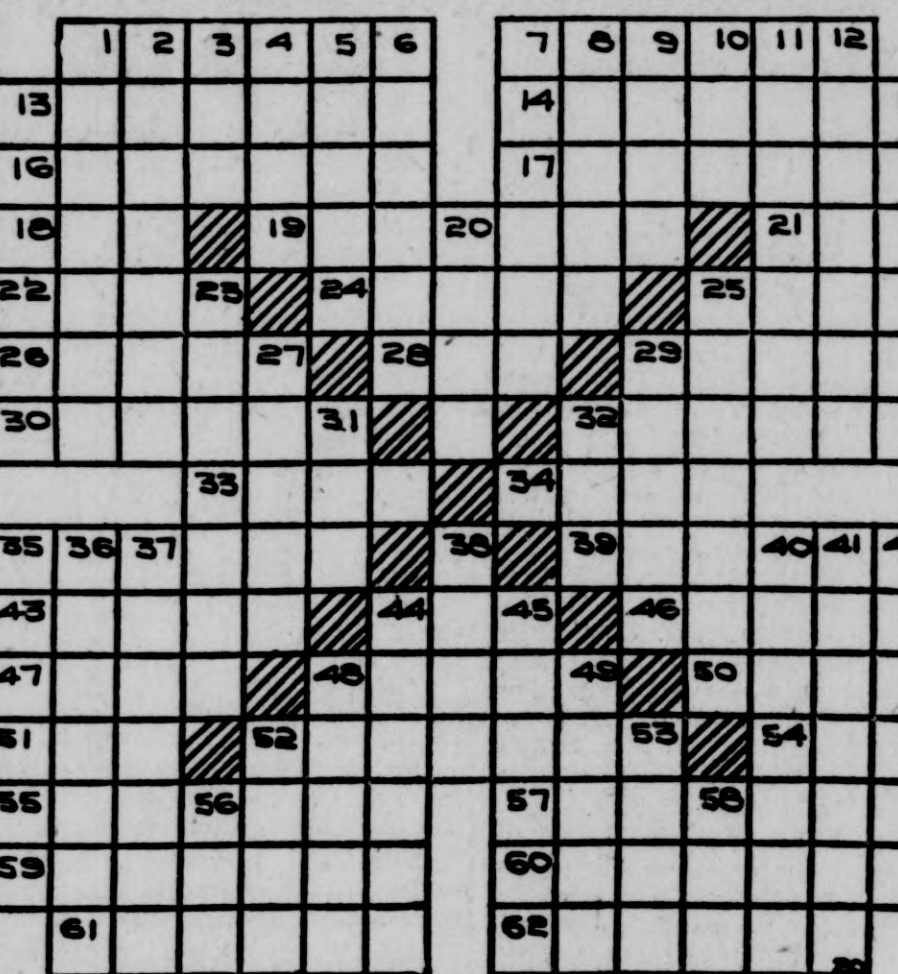

MR. DAVID L. HAWS

You wonder why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends? Well, the answer is just this—Konjola triumphs even when all else tried has failed. And Konjola is not designed to give mere temporary relief; its goal is far beyond that. Just read the words of Mr. David L. Haws, 1910 Brandywine street, Philadelphia. Then decide for yourself about Konjola. He says: "It was two years ago that I began taking Konjola. I took ten bottles, and today I have no stomach trouble and my entire system has been built up. I could eat but little, for gas formed and the pain almost set me crazy. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. Even the first two bottles gave wonderful relief. I will always recommend Konjola."

So it goes. All that is asked for Konjola is that it be given a test, no matter how severe that test is. Konjola is sold by Love and Megown, the druggists, 204 East Washington St., this city.

DOWNHILL THE RED ANTS SHUFFLED, PETER DREW A FREE BREATH ONCE MORE.

Peter's Adventures

"Talk is cheap!" declared Peter, none too politely. "Red Ant, you've got to show me that you've no notion to harm me!"

"What can I do?" asked the Red-skin leader, anxiously. "March down this hill!" replied Peter, promptly. "And when you reach the foot, say what you have to say. Then, if I don't agree to your terms, march on and leave me to go my own way, unmoistened."

"Right!" cried Redskin leader. "Right about face, sisters. Forward, march!" Down hill the Red Ants shuffled. Peter, alone in his glory, drew a free breath once more.

"Thank you, Redskins!" cried Peter, and lost no time in coming to the point. "I may as well tell you, right now, that I am all for the Black Ants and nothing could hire me to desert their cause, even if it is a lost one. I am no traitor. I'll have you know, and I am true to my friends just so long as there is one of them left."

"Hurrah!" The Redskins waved their antennae. "The chances are you'll soon be fighting in our ranks!" declared their leader. "As far as the Black Ants are concerned, everything is over but the shouting. And let me tell you, you'll find life a whole lot easier with us Reds than with the Blacks. They work for a living. We get what we want without laboring."

Exhibits Biggest Egg Ever Found

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 11.—Field Museum has on display a specimen of the largest kind of bird's egg ever to have existed, so far as is known. It is that of an extinct bird called Aegymnis, which once lived in Madagascar. While the bird is known only by skeletal remains, its eggs are still found occasionally.

Perhaps the trouble is that engineers have tried to eliminate dangerous curves without the help of the fashion magazines.

Shorter Working Week For Federal Employees Advanced In Congress

Congress May Enact Bill Making Half-Holiday On Saturdays For Employees

Passage Of Legislation For Shorter Working Week, Is Important Now

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — A campaign to put every department of the federal government on a five and a half day week as the apex of labor's general campaign for shorter work days in commerce and industry was under way in congress today.

Changing sentiment in congress, as evidenced by the attitude of the house on the Kendall 44-hour week bill for postal workers, encouraged a bloc of members to renew their efforts.

The next step in the program is expected to be a law requiring all government contracts to be let on the basis of a shorter work-day.

Half-Days Saturday
Speaker Nicholas Longworth of the house and under consideration a demand by a group of house members that he permit passage of the McCormack bill for Saturday half days for federal departmental workers under suspension of rules.

Under the McCormack bill, Saturday half holidays would be the rule for all government workers, including laborers and mechanics, with an exception that work on Saturday afternoon could be required in an emergency, a half-holiday would be given during the week in such cases.

Passage of legislation placing all government workers on a shorter week is important now as a means of lessening the evil flowing from substitution of machines for manpower," explained McCormack.

RIVER BOOSTERS RETURN TODAY FROM CAPITAL

preliminary survey authorized in the Omnibus Rivers and Harbors bill signed by President Hoover on July 3, this year, which had been introduced by Congressman Swick and Senator Reed as a portion of the bill, is now being conducted by the Pittsburgh district office of the U.
S. Army Engineers, and a preliminary report is expected to be made in the near future. The local river boosters are hopeful that the report will be favorable and will be authorization for the physical survey of the project.

Many U. S. army engineers, Senators David A. Reed and James J.
Davis and Congressman J. Howard Swick, of the local district, Congressman Thomas A. Cochran of Mercer county and Congressman John G.
Cooper of Youngstown, were interviewed by the New Castle delegation.

They found that these men are all working hard to have the canalization of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers actually under construction in as short a time as possible, and expressed the feeling that the project will receive favorable consideration at the hands of the U. S. Army Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

Hold Luncheon

Congress, the delegation representing the Beaver, Mahoning and Shen-ango rivers project, held a lunchcon meeting in the Willard hotel, which was presided over by T. J.
Bray, president of the association.
In addition to the delegates, those who were present were Congressman
Thomas A. Cochran, of Mercer,
John G. Cooper of Youngstown,
Hon. Chester Bolton of Cleveland, member of the Rivers and Harbors committee of the House of Representatives; Lachlan MacLeay, manager of the Mississippi Valley association; William C. Culkins, manager of the Ohio Valley Improvement association; and Dr. Charles M. Thompson, dean of the college of commerce and business administration of the University of Illinois, and one of the founders of the Mississippi Valley association. All pledged their unqualified support to the completion of the local waterways project as soon as it could be affected, in order that commerce from this district may be released by water transportation to the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

Increase Representation

In the past the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango Rivers Improvement association, has had very little representation on the executive board of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, having had up to this year but one director, but due to the importance of the local project and the interest being shown in this district, several others were elected on the board of directors, which now includes L. G. Genkinger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and
W. W. Duff of New Castle; Col.
J. P. Leaf of Rochester, George Mahoney, Burgess of Sharpville, F.
E. Moore, president of the Mathews
Conveyor Co. of Ellwood City, R.
Packard, Burgess of Greenville;
S. C. Scowden, Burgess of Farrell;
James A. Reeves of Warren, O.; H.
S. Warwick of Youngstown, O.; and Alfred W. Chilton, the latter of whom was re-elected.

The address of Hon. John G. Cooper of Youngstown before the Tuesday afternoon session of the Congress was well received and while this body does not endorse any particular waterways project, it let it be known that it was favorably disposed toward the development of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers, as one of the most important links of the Mississippi and Ohio river system.

The local delegation was headed by L. G. Genkinger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and E.
W. Beadel, vice president and treasurer of the Beaver, Mahoning, and Shenango Rivers Improvement association.

Those who returned this morning, included the two named above and John M. Bevan, Thomas Solomon, and H. G. Coates of the Seventh ward, Charles H. Johnson, Jr., W.
Kleth McAfee, W. W. Duff, Emanuel Shenkan, John S. Crawl, W. P. Rice of Walpam, D. O. Davies, A. S.
Thomas of this city, and Harry H.
Gerber and Burgess S. C. Scowden of Farrell.

Dr. C. W. Davis, W. J. Osburn, and George Meyer of the Seventh ward, who were also in attendance, either returned yesterday, or are remaining in Washington for an extended visit.

vicinity of the Croton school house,
while enroute east on Croton avenue

Grangers Hear That Opposition Against Pinchot Is Strong

Governor-Elect Addresses State Grange In Annual Convention, At Pottsville

Plan To Abolish Public Service Commission And Repeal Taxes, Opposed

(International News Service) POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 11.—Plans for the abolition of the public service commission and repeal or decrease in inheritance tax, today had been voiced by governor-elect Gifford Pinchot, in his address to the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State Grange, in convention here.

Mrs. Pinchot in her afternoon address to members of the grange, said that her husband was facing tremendous opposition towards his program, particularly in the matters of inheritance tax decrease, rural electrification, and his rural road program.

Both the "tall Forester" and his wife, Mrs. Cornelia Brice Pinchot, received rousing cheers from the farmers.

"I want you," the wife of the governor-elect said, "to get the people of your communities interested and have them learn what these problems mean to all of you."

Keen Opposition. "There is a tremendous opposition being organized against Mr. Pinchot's plans to abolish the public service commission, but I know my husband meant every word he said when he spoke of doing things to lower utility rates."

"My husband will welcome every one at Capitol Hill and will be glad to hear their suggestions on public problems," Mrs. Pinchot added in bringing her address to a close.

Governor-elect Pinchot, in his address to the executives of the grange, of which he is a member, dealt with his plans for the abolition of the public service commission and explained how it is necessary for the people of every community to get their legislators behind him, if they wish results, which would be beneficial to them.

He also spoke of his plan to have the state take over the rural roads to get the farmers out of the "mud."

New Tree Disease Being Studied

(International News Service) COLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 11.—A new and hitherto unknown tree disease which has been attacking Douglas fir trees in the Pike's Peak region has become the subject of a study being conducted by the United States Government. Dr. G. G. Hahn, who is connected with the bureau of forest pathology in the Department of Agriculture, is studying the disease.

Dr. Hahn recently returned from England, where he studied the larch canker, a tree disease similar to the western yellow pine pitch girdle which has injured trees in this region.

Hahn is an expert in tree diseases and it is believed in the forest service that his visit to the Pike's Peak region may be productive of much in the way of combating this new and strange tree trouble.

Jacob Roesser, Jr., director of the Rocky Mountain forest experiment station on Manitou mountain, is accompanying Hahn on his visit to the various areas in which the disease has appeared.

Stock Denies He Was Intoxicated

Tells Of Events Leading Up To Arrest On A Drunken Driving Charge

William C. Stock, was placed on trial in court before Judge Hildbrand this morning on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Testimony for the commonwealth showed that he had been arrested by Officer Wallace and had been examined by Dr. T. A. Shrop following his arrival at police headquarters.

Stock, who is 26 years old, and a truck driver for the Campbell Coal Company, denied that he was under the influence of liquor. He testified that he had worked on the Saturday on which the arrest was made. He quit delivering coal about 6:30, he said, and went to his home in Matilda Ave. He started down town in his own car about 8 o'clock, stopping at the home of a friend in Oakland where he had drunk about one and one half glasses of beer, or home brew. He claimed that it did not affect him.

He had then driven to the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company where he picked up Mr. Campbell, his employer, and they went out to do some collecting. They went to the Lawrence restaurant run by Mr. Shaner about 10 o'clock and had something to eat. Stock then took Campbell home and later returned to the restaurant, remaining there until 12:30, when it was closed.

He offered to take a man and his wife who worked at the restaurant and Mrs. Shaner home. They got into the car and started. As they were driving along near the diamond one of the occupants of the car told Stock that Officer Wallace had signalled him to stop. As he was past the officer he drove around the diamond and returned to him and was placed under arrest. He said that he was not under the influence of liquor at the time, having had nothing to drink since early in the evening when he had drunk the beer.

Mr. Campbell, his employer and others testified in his behalf.

Wants Damages For Automobile Smash

Luther Bryan Of Farrell Files Suit Against W. C. Hoagland, New Wilmington

Luther Bryan of Farrell has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against W. C. Hoagland of New Wilmington, in which he asks for $212.46 damages as the result of an automobile accident.

Bryan claimed that he was driving down a hill on what is known as the Farrell lateral, a road leading from the New Castle-Greenville road to Sharpville and Sharon. Hoagland was coming up the hill, when a car going in the same direction passed him.

Hoagland, it is claimed then drove over to the opposite side of the road and started to back his car into a driveway. When he drove across the road Bryan says he could not pass as there was a railing on the road at this point. The result was a collision.

Eats First Grass After 12 Years

Mine Mule Brought To Surface After Long Time Below Ground

(International News Service) COLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 11.—Timothy, a 16 year old mule, has discovered what grass is for, after living in ignorance for many years. Tim was brought to the surface after being 12 years in a coal mine. He was brought out blindfolded. After dark the blindfold was removed and Tim was turned out to pasture.

When the sun rose and Tim saw where he was he was the most surprised mule in the world. No black sooty tunnels were around him, only sunshine and green grass.

Thinking the grass was to lie on Tim lay down for a long time. Then he saw a cow eating grass and he thought he would try it. The result was pleasing to the old mule. Tim knew all about hay, but green grass was something entirely new in his life. Not since he was a four year old had he eaten any grass.

One of 16 mules brought to the surface after many years underground. Tim will be used on the surface this winter.

Children Present Cinderella Playlet At Public Library

Pretty Cinderella, the charming prince, king, queen—well, they were all there in the children's room of the New Castle public library Wednesday evening.

Ten little students of St. Mary's, North street and Highland school took part in the playlet "Cinderella" and over 80 boys and girls, members of the library Blue Star club were witnesses to the drama. It went over the top and took the interest of the audience by storm.

Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian, had re-written the play for the children and for the past several weeks several rehearsals were held at the library. Wednesday evening after school was the climax of it all. The members of the cast dressed up in costumes they had contrived at home. A curtain was strung up over an end of the children's room in the basement. A fire-place was arranged for scenery. The audience arrived and the room must surely have stretched a little to have accommodated those 80 children. Ear-rings, shawls, mother's slippers and a decided grown up walk and voice, made a perfect Cinderella out of little Rose Green. The king had made for himself a paper crown and the fairy god-mother had a perfectly fine fairy wand. (Both the crown and wand were handsomely decorated with tiny blue stars—indicating that the play was a product of the Blue Star club.)

One little girl had a costume consisting of white kid gloves. The page wore knickers and lace around her neck.

There was no doubt in the world about the queen being a true queen with the nose so regally held in the air!

One child brought a pair of slippers and a pretty cushion to lay them on.

Cast was as follows: Cinderella, Rose Green; fairy god-mother, Jean Williams; mother, Mary Mescall; two sisters, Mildred Parris, Rita Micaletti; king, Victor Mills; queen, Charlotte Mills; prince, Raymond Williams; page, Dorothy Campbell; and crier, Marion Brown.

Carelessness, Forgetfulness Cause Large Fines On Books

"Do library borrowers mean to steal the books they keep overtime?" asked the reporter of the librarian of the local library.

"Bless you, no!" replied the librarian. "Most folks are honest, but they are sometimes careless and forget. They forget that many others want the book as badly as they did. They forget that the library has only one copy of some very much used books. They forget the book and leave it on the train or in the office. They let the maid put it into the bookcase and it is overlooked till the spring cleaning. They forget that most books may be renewed for two weeks."

"What is the penalty for forgetting to get a book back to the library in time?"

"A borrower is fined two cents for each day a book is overdue, up to fifty cents, which is the maximum fine. For this week December 8-13 inclusive the fines are being remitted so as to encourage the return of books long overdue."

"Have any books come back?"

"Yes, several have come and we hope to see more before the end of the week. It is such a good bargain that many who have overdue books will consider it quite worthwhile to save fifty cents a piece on them."

Paolini Convicted Of Operating Still

Story That Outfit Belonged To Another Man Failed To Impress The Jury

Verdict of guilty as indicated was returned by a jury at court in the case of Nick Paolini of Wayne township, who was charged with manufacturing liquor. A big still, eight gallons of finished product and about 500 gallons of mash was found by County Detective Lee and others who made the raid. The outfit was in a vacant house near the Paolini home. His defense was that the outfit did not belong to him, but to another man. However the officers had found keys hanging on a wall in the Paolini home and these keys fitted the doors to the vacant house. There was also other evidence to show that Paolini was interested in the still.

Nations Act To Halt Drug Traffic

Conference In London Agrees To Limit Production Of Cocaine

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 11.—A death blow has been dealt to the world drug traffic.

Nine nations have provisionally agreed, following a conference in London, to limit the production of cocaine.

The conference which met on the initiative of the British foreign secretary, was a preliminary to a general international convention convened by the League of Nations next May.

The nations which have agreed on the cocaine question are: United States, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, India, Holland, Russia and Switzerland.

The position of the United States and Russia, which export only small quantities, is unaffected. Japan and Turkey have reserved their decision. Discussions are now being continued on the question of morphine and its derivatives. It is expected that an agreement will be reached before the league opium advisory committee meets in January.

Enemies carry a report in form different from the original.—Plautus.

Pinchot Opposes Re-Naming Daix As Senate Chief

Governor-Elect Pinchot Throws Support To Senator Mansfield, Allegheny

PHILADELPHIA
GANG IS UPSET

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—Governor-elect Gifford Pinchot resumed his conferences today in his suite at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel here with the organization of the next legislature the chief topic of all discussions.

He is expected to make an announcement some time during the day regarding his opposition to the re-naming of Senator Augustus F. Daix, Jr. of this city, as president pro tem of the state senate. The latter's son, Augustus F. Daix, 3rd, asserted today his father will remain in the race and is confident of winning.

"We know Governor-elect Pinchot was supporting Senator William D. Mansfield, of McKeesport," said Daix, "but my father will fight to the end."

Opposes Daix

Pinchot arrived here during the night from Pottsville and despite the lateness of the hour held conferences with Senator Heaton, of Schuylkill county, and Senator Sordani, of Luzerne county. He has opposed the re-election of Daix because the Philadelphia senator was bolted with the other Philadelphia leaders who supported John M. Hemphill instead of their regular party nominee for governor.

Daix and his supporters, however, have made strenuous efforts to secure Pinchot's support and that of other members of the state body. To the arguments advanced in the Philadelphia legislature's behalf, Pinchot finally pointed out that if Daix was re-named president pro tem he would be the second in line of succession if the next Governor should die or resign his office.

Should both the governor and the lieutenant governor, die or resign, Pinchot reminded his conferees, the president of the senate then would become governor of Pennsylvania.

Liquor Cases Are On Increase

Great Majority Of Court Cases Tried In 1930 Were For Liquor Violations

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 11.—Of the 642 criminal cases docketed during the four courts terms of 1930 forty percent of them were liquor violations the records show.

The 1930 average is on a par with previous years. The surprise of the liquor situation is the increasing number of drunken drivers being arrested. Whether there is more drunkenness or the officers are more vigilant is a question but the records show an increase.

At the January court session of the year were listed 160 cases. Of this sum 74 were liquor law violations; 16 arrests for driving drunk.

At the April term 55 of 127 cases were liquor three arrests for drunken driving.

At the June term with 101 cases 42 were liquor law violations, with 8 arrests for driving drunk.

Ninety nine of the 254 October cases were liquor cases with 18 arrests for drunken driving. Over half of the liquor cases never came to trial, pleas being entered. Sheriff Dan Callahan secured signatures over 150 pleas from defendants housed in the county jail. Another feature of the situation is the ever increasing number of women being arrested for this offense. A woman in jail once was a novelty. They have averaged ten in term for the year.

EXHIBIT FINE STOCK

Stockmen of Mercer county agree that the 10 car show of county cattle, sheep and hogs that will be shipped to Harrisburg for the state show of January 19-23 next will be the finest that ever left the county or for that matter ever raised here.

The county rates third in state importance in the sheep industry and recognizes no peer in the raising of beef and dairy cattle.

The interest taken in the show by stockmen is surprising. Many of them will attend. The show is held in a new building just completed covering 9½ acres in which will be housed during the show 15,000 different exhibits from the farms of Pennsylvania.

Cash prizes totaling $40,000 have been offered.

TO ATTEND STATE MEETING

The state educational meeting will be held this year at Williamsport on the dates of December, 30-31. From Mercer county will go a number of educators now making plans for the event.

The county high schools will be represented by James Patterson of the faculty of Mercer High; the grade schools of the county by Mrs. Beula Jamison of Fredonia schools; the rural schools by Mrs. Gladys Buckwalter of the Shenango township schools.

There will be representation from the offices of the county superintendent W. M. Johnson.

SUES METROPOLITAN

Suit has been filed here today by Chas. Pope of Sharon against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to collect $767 with interest from August 20th 1929 for an injury sustained.

Pope alleges purchase of an accident policy paying $25 a week on September 2nd 1924. Suit is brought to collect under this policy.

SCHOOL ENTERED

Hickory High school building was forcibly entered last night by thieves reports Prof. Springer the principal to state police today. A sum of money and other articles are reported stolen.

Trooper Leonard is making investigation.

YOUTHS ARRESTED

Three Lackawanna township boys, Carl Carrier 15, Charles Petrocky 20 and Sam Fisher 19, are being held in the county jail for arraignment before Squire Thomas of Sharon charged with theft of 25 Garrett. The complaint is lodged by Donald Pyle of that township, the trap owner.

The traps were taken from their location along the Little Shenango River.

SIGN GUILTY PLEAS

Pleas on liquor charges have been signed by Baxter Banks and Mike Roscak held in county jail reports Sheriff Dan Callahan.

Thomas Dickey of Sandy Lake is brought to the county jail charged with trespassing committed by Squire Frank Vincent of that town. He will be given a hearing today before Squire T. W. McClain.

THIS Luxurious COFFEE FLAVOR kept under lock and key for you!

WHITE HOUSE COFFEE — long famous for finer flavor — now comes to you with more rare goodness than ever before. For the Thermo-fresh tin prevents a needless waste of coffee flavor that robs you of the full enjoyment of coffee.

Recent experiments prove that coffee flavor evaporates most rapidly immediately after roasting, with a loss of 60% in only nine days.* Since coffee rarely gets from the roaster to consumer in so short a time, quick vacuum sealing is the only way to prevent this headlong escape of flavor and freshness.

Now the flavor of White House Coffee is guarded for you by the new Thermo-fresh tin. Locked up in its own redolent aroma, this coffee comes to you with all its glorious, just-roasted freshness . . . 60% more flavorful than you've ever tasted it, or other coffees. When you use White House Thermo-fresh Coffee you can be sure you're serving the best there is.

Naturally . . . White House Thermo-fresh Coffee costs a few cents more than the ordinary run of coffees. But try it just the same. Your grocer carries it because he believes that 60% more flavor is well worth the difference.

Grand Jury Will Get Case Against Cleveland Officer

Grand Jury Will Scan Evidence In Fatal Killing By Detective Of Wrong Man

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 11.—An inquiry by the grand jury into the fatal shooting of Joseph Fortini, 22, by City Detective Patrick McNeely, who mistook the youth for Joe Filkowski, hunted gang leader and robber, was scheduled to begin today, according to an announcement by Assistant County Prosecutor Emerich B. Freed.

Police officials announced their inquiry into the tragedy was complete and remanded the matter to the grand jury for future action.

Fortini was slain in the crowded streets of the city shortly before five o'clock last Tuesday after McNeely had followed the youth closely when he believed he had identified him as Filkowski.

The detective was said to have fired one shot at the youth when the latter half-turned in answer to McNeely's command to halt. The officer said Fortini held his hand in a coat pocket as if he were fingering a revolver.

Say Land Valuable For Manufacturing

But Testimony Shows That For Past Fifty Years No Offers Have Been Made

Hearing was held before the public services commission in Pittsburgh yesterday on a claim of H. E. Marshall and others for damages on account of the building of the Wampum viaduct. County Commissioner T. J. McCullough was present with a number of witnesses for the county.

Marshall's land comprises about ten acres, only a small portion of which was used in the building of the viaduct. He claimed it to be a manufacturing site, although it was admitted that for fifty years nobody has ever made an offer on it for manufacturing purposes.

Testimony on the side of the county placed the value of the ten acres at around $800 to $1000, while some of the testimony for the owners put the value up as high as $6000. The commission will consider the testimony and hand down a decision.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Help To Develop Health In Grandchild's Parent

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
Head Division, Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

It is possible for us parents to have a little part in choosing our grandchildren. But under the most favorable conditions our part will be much smaller than we are wont to think. Too late now for us to choose their great-great-grandparents.

In the one parent of our grandchildren who is our child we can help to develop the physical organism inherited, providing the best possible conditions, perhaps, for his healthy growth physically, mentally, emotionally. If it were possible we should also have something to do with the selection of the other parent of our grandchildren, and indirectly the physical welfare of that parent.

Just how much we parents should try to choose the mate of our boy or girl, or to what degree we are able to do so, is a question. Some parents who try the hardest to guide in such mating make the biggest mess of it. Parents who have contributed most to wise mating for their children have achieved their successes more or less indirectly. All else equal, here are some factors which ought to contribute toward our children's happy marriage:

1. Good health habits from early infancy. The sickly child has limited opportunities for becoming likeable. He is more liable to be pampered, and to grow self-centered, with fewer opportunities through childhood, youth and adulthood to make the widest social contacts.

2. Early acquisition of habits of self-restraint presupposed by cultivation of early inhibitions in the child. The boy or girl who in early infancy had not learned to accept authority and to have appropriate regard for others' rights will hardly prove most apt in finding a mate, or most ready to adjust himself happily to matrimony and parenthood.

3. Good early social education. All else equal, the child who from early years mingles freely and happily with many other children of his age, with ample opportunities to fight and quarrel, give and take, co-operate, complete in the group sports of the neighborhood, getting most enjoyment in group activities, acquiring many skills, finding many ways of self-expression to the satisfaction of this group, with constant interest away from himself, socially minded, will have the widest opportunities for good mating choices.

4. Learning early independence and responsibilities. All else equal, the child who early learns to wait upon himself, to choose for himself and think for himself; who is interested early in preparing himself to make a livelihood, to be economically independent, will be able to make the wiser choice of a mate and to adjust himself the better to the choice made.

As for telling our children with whom to mingle or with whom not to mingle, whom to love or not to love, whom to marry or not to marry, we are pretty largely helpless. If our efforts are direct. Nor can we hope to do much good by giving advice unsolicited. How often our children are going to come to us for advice, how much they are going to take into account what they suppose we would approve or disapprove, will depend almost entirely upon the attitudes and relationships with us from their earliest infancy.

Carnegie Tech Is Sued For $25,000

Physical Education Student Files Suit For $25,000, Result Of Injuries

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—"Does a college education pay?"

That moot question has been affirmed by successful college graduates and as stoutly negated by "self-made" men. But John P. Alms of Greensburg, Carnegie Tech student, is going to find out. Alms has entered suit against his alma mater for $25,000 for injuries claimed to have been received while attempting an "aerial somersault" on the parallel bars during a physical training course.

The stunt, Alms avers, didn't come off—but the bars did, resulting in a fracture of the vertebrae.

Parrot And Collie Rivals For Love

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., Dec. 11.—The "eternal triangle" has bobbed up again in the hitherto orderly relations of a parrot, a collie dog and their mistress.

Kelly, the verdant imitator of the feathered world, was his mistress' best friend and companion a few days ago. He would speak to her in the evening and only blink an eye when she teased him.

Then came the collie.

Now Kelly won't even bat an eye at his mistress or speak a soothing word for her to hear. Kelly is jealous, so Alice Mitchell, his owner, believes.

The parrot sits on his perch and looks daggers at the harmless collie who suns himself below. He plumes himself lazily and when his mistress approaches turns his head in evident disgust. Kelly speaks no more. Silently he pleads his case before his owner.

There isn't room for three and Kelly believes he will stay because he couldn't leave if he wanted to. He's chained to his perch.

Thus it goes on, this battle between bird and beast. Kelly senses that he is losing. His mistress has taken to the collie and fondles the dog each time she feeds him.

She's willing to do the same for Kelly when he learns that there is enough love for all three and no need to be jealous.

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

(By Central Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—When Jimmy Walker, speaking of his job some time ago, said that "all the glory is gone, all the glitter is off," he probably did not realize that his fate, in that respect, is the common fate of all save two, who have held the position of chief executive of Tammany Town.

The majority of the metropolis is a political graveyard, tarnishing or wrecking the reputations of many incumbents, and thrusting nearly all into a state approaching oblivion.

EXTENDING THE BOUNDARY
A couple of actors out of work have opened a horseshoe pitching parlor on Eighth avenue. Their sign board bears the legend "America's National Sport—First Time on Broadway."

Of course, 8th Avenue is not exactly Broadway. But the two proprietors of the horseshoe pitching parlors being themselves a part of Mazda Lane see no reason why the kinship should not extend to their "billion."

HOPES AND DESPAIR
Men who sit back of the commonplace looking desks in the personal loan department of banks and similar institutions come to acquire, after a while, a remarkable insight into the thwarted ambitions and slumbering hopes of men and women in the Big Town.

When the preliminaries in the work of effecting a loan have been mastered, the person who wants the money has to state for what purpose the loan is being sought. Usually the reason deals with emergency, threatening health or home. Most of it is tragedy, with here and there a comedy relief.

SEEKING CITY KEY
The story is related of a shabby young man who visited the personal loan department of a large banking institution seeking cash to finance a plan he had worked out for unscrambling Tammany Town's vehicular tangle.

The inspiration for his plan came, he said, one evening at a movie when he had been detained at the rear of the auditorium by ushers who roped off the aisles. He had it all down in black and white for the bank's perusal.

"I am being entirely frank with you," he told the interviewer, "and I'm trusting you not to steal my idea. You see, the trouble is this. I should like a personal talk with Mayor Walker. We are unacquainted and I should never be able to get in to see that impeccable gentleman without morning clothes, cane and gardenia."

And that was what he wanted the bank to do for him. Advance a cash loan for clothing and the important gardenia.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugstore, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Crowds Are Preparing To Welcome Christmas

The crowds are moving fast. All is hurry, bustle, scramble and hustle. It is because the days are moving fast—short, fleeting days. And just 14 of them—then Christmas. Christmas! The word is magic. It is the "Open Sesame" to a thousand joys. It flashes in the mind pictures of joy, anticipation, brightness, color, laughter, happiness. Downtown pretty red, green, yellow lights are aglow; bells tinkle and coins drop with merry rings into the kettles; windows appear as if a fairy had swooped down overnight and touched them with her wonderful wand—the tinsel colored trees have ephemeral beauty—and the articles displayed seem to be hoping that they be bought to make someone happy; anticipant children look with saucer eyes at the magnificent dolls and tools and dishes and toys.

The toys! Little brown and red trains chugging along silver tracks and piloted by real engineer! Teddy bears just made for some little kiddy to hug to death; woolly bits of puddles that are ideal—they don't bite, bark or eat; cherubic china dolls that any little girl could love and love and love; Fresh Air taxis that, (when wound up) will run all over things; fascinating shaped blocks with which anything could be built. Wreaths of holly, gold and silver tinsel, Santa Claus, delicate Christmas tree bulbs, cards, flowers. . . .

The crowds are moving fast and the days are moving fast. Christmas is coming by leaps and bounds. And the crowds are hurrying to make gala preparations.

Rabbi Says Law Above Personal Like Or Dislike

Those Who Violate Laws Held Undermining Civilization

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 11.—People who violate laws simply because they do not appeal to them, fail to realize that it may bring about a disrespect for all laws and an undermining of civilization, recently declared Rabbi Harry Levi.

"We violate laws which do not appeal to us with a nonchalance and an equanimity which reflect on our age and intelligence," he said. "We do not realize that we are contributing in a general disrespect for law, which may one day undermine our whole civilization."

"We defy the moral law and forget the 'wages of sin is death' and that on one can trifle with the universe. We ridicule all conventions, as though some were not safeguards for our well being. We convert liberty into license and fail to see the abyss into which at any moment the confusion may plunge us."

"Young people run wild as though life could be lived unthinkingly and recklessly, while philosophers, who should know better offer as a way of life a program which cannot fail to bring heart aches and disaster to all who accept it."

"We hate and denounce all aliens and immigrants, and so threaten the well being not only of our country but of ourselves. And, victims of hysterical jingoism, we criticize, belittle and humiliate a who live in other lands so as to threaten the foundations of the very land we profess to love."

Schumann-Heink Likes Old Age

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink would like to do something about women. She thinks they're deluded because, poor creatures, they sigh and weep about becoming old, whereas if they had a grain of sense they'd realize a woman's best years are after 50.

"Take it from Mother Schumann-Heink, in the current Radio Digest, youth is not as happy and enchanted a period as some would have us believe. In reality it is more a time of many painful experiences."

Mme. Schumann-Heink has found that young and youngish women fail to realize how comfortable it is to sit back and relax after 50. And some already past 50 don't either, she writes.

Jury Disagrees In Niles Case Against Officer

Judge Discharges Jury, Unable To Agree On Fate Of Former Police Chief

PROSECUTOR TO MAKE NEW MOVE

(International News Service) WARREN, O., Dec. 11.—Prosecutor George H. Birrell today was expected to announce his next step in the trial of Edward Kennedy, discharged Niles police chief, after Judge W. M. Carter discharged the jury in the case after it reported that members were unable to agree after almost nine hours' deliberation.

The case went to the jury at 1:45 yesterday afternoon. At 8 o'clock yesterday evening the jury-men were led back into the courtroom to receive further instructions from Judge Carter. They asked whether they would be allowed to consider actions of the police chief over a period of several months instead of on the exact date of the offense, as charged in the indictment.

Spent Much Money Prosecutor Birrell told the jury that Kennedy had admitted expenditures of $225 a month for a period of sixteen months as police lieutenant. Birrell pointed out that this expenditure allowed him only $2 a month to cover various living expenses.

The prosecutor declared in court that Kennedy had bought several lots, built a house and bought an airplane for his eldest son, all of which purchases he declared was impossible from receipts of Kennedy's income.

Judge-elect Lynn Griffith asked the jury for an acquittal. He claimed his client had been "framed" because of unfavorable raids which Kennedy precipitated on the Niles bootleggers and racketeers a short while ago. Griffith scored the evidence accepted by the court which was presented by self-confessed bootleggers and gamblers who testified they had paid bribes to Kennedy while he was police lieutenant.

Banking Officials Take Over State Bank In New York City

State Superintendent Of Banks Takes Control Of Institution In New York

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Joseph A. Broderick, state superintendent of banks, today took possession of the bank of United States, a New York State institution, operating in New York City, with fifty-eight branches scattered throughout greater New York.

A statement of September 24, 1930, gave the resources of the bank as $254,043.942 with deposits of $202,973,469.

Superintendent Broderick announced that he had been informed that Clearing House member banks will render assistance in the form of loans against the net claims of the depositors to the extent of fifty percent of all claims properly authenticated.

Superintendent Broderick asked for more time before answering questions of reporters, because, he said, "we have been up four days and four nights."

Buys Railroad Line For $4,000

Owner Refuses To Divulge What He Is Going To Do With It

(International News Service) TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 11.—Leland W. Warner owns a railroad—he bought it the other day for $4,000—but so far no one has been able to find out what he intends to do with it.

Warner, who has been making a temporary home here with his wife's parents, stepped suddenly from the ranks of the unemployed and became a railroad magnate over night. He purchased the Leavenworth & Topeka road, a 47-mile, dilapidated roadway over which an antiquated locomotive used to pull a couple of three equally disreputable box cars and a passenger coach.

Warner was not in Topeka to explain what he intends to do with his newly acquired railroad, and Mrs. Warner had not heard of her husband's sudden rise to railroad owner. But what she would like to know is where did he get the $4,000. Evidently Warner intends to operate the line, for he indicated he would comply with the requirement of posting $50,000 bond to insure operation of the line for six years.

Anti-Religious Drive Renewed

League Of Godless Renews Campaign In Russia

(International News Service) MOSCOW, Dec. 11.—With the slogan "religion is not a personal matter," the League of the Godless has renewed its anti-religious campaign which flared during the summer because Soviet officials like President Kalinin found it was interfering with the organization of collective farms.

The Moscow regional society of the League recently met in the Red hall of the Moscow Soviet and passed a resolution which said that "the fight against religion 'can't be separated from the general class war.' At the same time speakers urged that the tactics be less brazen than last spring and more of an educational nature.

The latest demonstration of the educational anti-religious propaganda is the turning of the historic St. Isaac's cathedral which dominates Leningrad into an atheistic museum. Between the beautiful pillars of solid lapis and malachite the line the nave there are now all sorts of mechanical contraptions disproving the Book of Genesis, showing that the earth moves round on its axis and is not flat but round and that the bodies of saints simmer down to ashes and dust like any other mortal after death.

A white screen for anti-religious motion pictures hangs in front of the altar. It is flanked by photographs and lithographs showing the opposition of the church and its priests to the red revolution.

Although tax collections are not up to what they were a year ago at this time, a comparison of New Castle and Youngstown shows New Castle to be far ahead. A statement recently was sent out of Youngstown to the effect that tax collections were some two million dollars back of what they were a year ago. New Castle is about $30,000 back of 1935 for school taxes and $13,000 for city taxes according to L. B. McClung, city treasurer, who made the statement to the New Castle school board Wednesday night.

"Our exonerated list will be larger this year than it was last year," said Mr. McClung. "Last year the total was about $28,000. This year it will be about $40,000. This I feel is not bad at all, considering the industrial depression."

The board approved a warrant to pay for the cost of sale of property sold by the county for school taxes to $2557.66.

A bill for $57.31 for music for the high school band was approved.

Sometime in the near future the board will pass a resolution on notifying the two married women who are teaching in the schools at the present time that they will not be continued in the service next year. Under the continuing contract law, it is necessary for the board to no-

End Comes For Prolonged Case

Commission Rules In Case Brought By Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, And Others

WATER COMPANY RATES PROTESTED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—"Finis" was written today to one of the most prolonged cases heard by the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission in recent years—the complaints of the cities of Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and 67 other municipalities, boroughs, corporations and individuals against rates of the Scranton-Spring Brook Water company.

In a 31-page statement and order issued here last evening, the commission:

1. Sustained the complaints against the company insofar as they related to rates to domestic users.

2. Ordered the company to file, effective January 1, 1931, on one day's notice a new tariff schedule reducing the gross annual revenue of the company to an amount not in excess of $4,219,000, such reduction to be applicable to rates to domestic users.

3. Ordered the company to file with commission, when the new schedule is filed, certified statements of its actual annual revenues under temporary rates effective as of July 1, 1928 to December 31, 1930.

4. Ordered the company to rebate to all consumers whose rates are reduced under the order all amounts charged or paid at higher rates since July 1, 1928. When such payments have actually been made, the commission ordered, the amount rebated shall carry interest at 6 percent per annum.

What Do They Eat?

Recipes of Well-known Folk as told to Violet A. Ryder.

IRENE RICH, screen actress, is reported to possess culinary accomplishments in addition to artistic ones. This is easily believed, if ever one has tasted her recipe for Creamed Sweetbreads, a rare delicacy.

CREAMED SWEETBREADS
Two cups of blanched sweetbreads cut into dice. One small can button mushrooms. Make a sauce with four tablespoons of melted butter, four tablespoons of flour. Mix well and cook until foamy. Add two cups of rich milk or thin cream and stir well until thick and creamy. Season with one-half teaspoon of salt, a dash of cayenne pepper and ground nutmeg. Add sweetbreads and mushrooms. Serve in ramekins.

To blanch sweetbreads soak one hour in cold water, drain, cover with cold water, and drain again. One tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar, two or three cloves, dash of pepper and a small piece of bay leaf. Simmer about fifteen minutes, drain, cover with cold water, drain and remove fibers.

Old Indian Club House Discovered

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 11.—Discovery of an Indian mound containing a kiva or religious dance house, and 25 "men's club rooms," the first of its kind ever located in Utah, was reported here yesterday by Dr. Julian H. Steward, head of the Archaeological department of the University of Utah.

Dr. Steward said discovery of a large number of "gambling sticks" in one of the rooms indicated the Indians were adept at the game and used part of their dwelling for such pastime. These sticks, he said, were used in a hand gambling game believed to have been popular among the tribes which roamed the southern Utah and northern Arizona territory approximately 1500 years ago.

Indian writings, or petroglyphs, found in the mound date back from 1500 to 2000 years ago, Dr. Steward said, adding he believed these Indians were ancestors of the cliff dwellers of Arizona.

Fruit Fly Ban To Be Removed

ORLANDO, Dec. 11.—Nineteen months, spent by state and government officials in waging a $6,000,000 eradication campaign against the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida, will be climaxed tomorrow with the lifting of all federal quarantine regulations from the state.

Because extermination of the pest has been so successful, the department of agriculture has ordered removed every remaining restriction on interstate movements of host fruits and vegetables from the regulated area.

At present the department reports there is no known infestation in the state and with removal of the regulations, the state's official status, in respect to the fly, will be exactly the same as before discovery of the first fly in April last year.

Tour Speakers At Temple Israel

Canton Rabbi And Layman To Speak At Services Friday Night

For the past few years the Union of American Hebrew Congregations has been conducting what is known as "The Annual November Tour," during which each congregation, affiliated with the Union, is visited by non-resident speakers both Rabbis and laymen.

The purpose of such a tour is obvious as it is beneficial. In the first place it seeks to strengthen the sense of cohesion among the constituent bodies of the Union, to draw their attention to its vital program and vast activities in behalf of Liberal Judaism in America, and to make the congregational units more mindful of their inherent obligations towards the National Body.

It is also an occasion when, the entire viewpoint, attitude and aims of present day Reform Judaism are reiterated in a clear cut expression and re-emphasized in the minds and hearts of its adherents to the end that clarified ideals may result in stronger loyalties.

Temple Israel of New Castle is very fortunate in the speakers assigned to its pulpit; Rabbi Charles Latz of Canton, Ohio, who is a very eloquent, earnest and convincing speaker and a very close personal friend of the local Rabbi; the layman's message will be given by Harry Berger, a very energetic leader and ardent worker in the Canton community.

The Tour Speakers will officiate at the Special Friday Evening Services at Temple Israel tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock.

The pulpit flowers for this occasion will be furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger in loving memory of their brother Mr. A. J. Sunstein.

After the services a social hour will be held in the vestry rooms of the Temple with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davis acting as hosts. Saturday morning services at 10:30 a. m.

Men Set Example In Pruning Woodlands

(International News Service)

LACONIA, N. H., Dec. 11.—Although well passed their "three score years and ten" J. H. Wadleigh, 80, of Tilton and W. B. Muggette, 70, of Belmont, farmers and woodlot owners of Belknap county will engage in the hazardous task of tree pruning.

Both farmers have met with such great success in the rejuvenation of their woodland property that numerous other woodland owners have organized bands throughout southern New Hampshire and plan to follow in their footsteps.

Lectures on the improvement of young woodlot stands are held in Belmont and land owners have turned out in large numbers to attend.

Santa Claus, Brownies, Are Busy Making Toys

Rumor has it that Santa Claus, in his workshop at the North Pole, is working from dawn every morning to late at night in order to prepare for the children of New Castle and the world all the toys that they ask for, on Christmas morn.

The jovial old soul and his troop of helpful little Brownies are, according to reports, making thousands and thousands of "cute blonde and brunette baby dolls, sleds, bicycles, scooters, games, pop-guns, fairy and Goopy-goop books; bean shooters, miniature cornets, ironing boards and rubber elephants.

As fast as they are made, old Santa chucks them into huge shoulder bags and packs them into his delivery sleigh. By Christmas Eve he promises to have completed everything and when the millions of youngsters are scooting around in Dreamland, old Santa will bring them gifts down the chimney and fill the expectantly waiting stockings. "Just fourteen days now and I will be starting off. I expect this Christmas will be the greatest ever," Santa Claus is quoted as saying.

Seek Early Spring Start Of State Highway Work

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 11.—Thousands of men will be given several extra months of employment if the State Highway Department is enabled by the Legislature to get the 1931 road building program under way early next Spring and not be delayed, as in former Legislative session years, by political snarls in measures for highway construction.

S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, State unit of the American Automobile Association, said today:

An appeal to the lawmakers to take immediate steps to provide funds for road work will be presented to the legislators when they convene at Harrisburg next month, Mr. Gable stated. This will have the unanimous support, he explained, of the eighty-eight A. A. A. clubs in Pennsylvania that comprise the Federation, representing more than 150,000 motor car owners and drivers in this commonwealth.

At the annual conference of A. A. A. Club Secretaries held in Clearfield last week a resolution was passed by the representatives of eighty Pennsylvania motor clubs present, urging that, if necessary, a portion of the approximately $20,000,000 surplus in the motor vehicle fund be diverted to the highway department to get the 1931 program under way as early in the spring as weather conditions permit. This will be taken up at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Federation in Harrisburg next week, Mr. Gable said, at which the organization's Legislative program for 1931 will be formulated.

"Every Legislative session year recently—in other words, every second year, the Highway Department has been held up for a month or two in getting the major projects of its spring-summer-and-fall road building program under way because the lawmakers have waited until the final week or two of the session to decide on important highway matters and pass appropriation bills for this work," the Federation head stated. "In view of present economic conditions, with several million jobless men in Pennsylvania, such a situation should not prevail in 1931, especially since there are ample reserves in the motor vehicle department fund which can be diverted through temporary or permanent transfer, to meet immediate highway department needs for road construction."

"This will provide extra employment for thousands throughout the State, thus helping materially in the present economic crisis, and, at the same time, will make possible the construction of many more miles of road than were the start of work, as in previous legislative session years, delayed until April or May. In addition, it will be a boon to the farmer and others in rural sections through which new roads are to be built next year, for it will bring about at least a month or two sooner the time when the people of these districts will be 'out of the mud' and thus will have a favorable reaction on business conditions in such communities.

"It seems that there is nothing to be lost, and lots to be gained, through getting the 1931 highway construction program under way as early next spring as is humanly possible."

NOTES OF TROOP "F" 103RD CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

A shipment of the following equipment is on its way to the armory: leggings, spur straps, shirts, shoes, breeches (woolen) and coats (woolen).

A forage contract to the amount of approximately $1,000 to furnish the stables during the months of January, February and March, has been let with a local food dealer.

Maybe the troop will get a new typewriter after all. A claim blank has been filled out to furnish the railroad company with information on the troop typewriter which was damaged in transit to the last encampment.

The drill plan from which officers will prepare the drill schedule for the rest of this month and January, is now in the hands of the commander, and the schedule will be prepared shortly.

Ray Evans, former trooper, who visited the armory and had a chat with the captain on war-time experiences, will travel to Venango county today to hunt deer.

Mieles Quintet Tops Manhattans

Ellwood City Quintet In Allegheny County League Takes Second Licking

By TONY PASTA
ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Dec. 11.—For the second time this week the Ellwood City Manhattan basketballers have been defeated as they dropped a contest last night on the Shelby floor to the J. J. Mieles of Pittsburgh.

The local crew got off to a good start in the opening quarter as they collected eight points with the opponent getting six. In the second session they did even better than the first as they again chalked up eight points and held the enemy to only two. This gave the Manhattans a 16 to 8 lead at the end of the half.

What seemed to be an almost sure victory was turned into a one-sided defeat as the locals weakened in the last half of the battle to allow the Mieles to go on a scoring campaign. The lads from the Smoky City reversed the situation in a very short time as they collected ten points in the third chapter and continued the cyclone in the final period as they hung up twelve more. While the Pittsburghers were doing all this the Ellwood City team was unable to score in the third chapter and got only two in the final. The visitors went wild in this part of the tilt and the Ellwood aggregation was not able to check the strong attack.

This defeat places Ellwood in fourth place in the county league with two victories and the same number of defeats. Ellwood will face another hard schedule next week as they clash with the Lafayettees on Tuesday and with the Fintex on Wednesday. The first game will be played away and the second at home. The Lafayettees are leading the league with two victories and have yet to taste defeat.

Lineup: Ellwood—Lippe, Friedman, Leyda, Lloyd, Fitzgerald, Subbs—Ellwood: Delhaunt, Lewis, Mieles: Aiello.

Field Goals—Ellwood: Friedman 2, Lippe, Lloyd 2, Fitzgerald, Mieles: O'Hara 2, Hoffman 4, Twyman 4, Delvechio 2, Foley, Aiello.

Fouls—Mieles, 2 out of 1; Ellwood, 6 out of 15.

Referee—Graham.

Score by periods: Mieles 6 2 10 12—30 Ellwood 8 8 0 2—18

28. George Rogers Clark—Preparations For Battle

NEWS TRAVELLED SLOWLY IN THE WILDERNESS EVEN BY THE SWIFTEST RUNNERS, AND COL HAMILTON, BRITISH COMMANDER AT DETROIT, DID NOT LEARN OF THE CAPTURE OF THE BRITISH FORTS IN THE ILLINOIS COUNTRY UNTIL WEEKS AFTERWARD.

WHEN THIS DISMAYING NEWS REACHED HAMILTON, HE WAS IN THE ACT OF GATHERING A STRONG FORCE OF BRITISH AND INDIANS AT DETROIT TO HURL AGAINST THE KENTUCKY FRONTIER. HE AT ONCE TURNED FROM THIS PROJECT TO LEAD HIS ARMY TO RECOVER THE LOST POSTS.

MEANWHILE, AT KASKASKIA COLONEL CLARK WAS HAVING HIS TROUBLES. AT THIS CRITICAL TIME THE ENLISTMENTS OF MOST OF HIS AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS EXPIRED AND MANY RETURNED TO THEIR HOMES IN KENTUCKY AND VIRGINIA.

CLARK PERSUADED A HUNDRED OF HIS TRUSTY "LONG KNIVES" TO RE-ENLIST FOR EIGHT MONTHS, AND ORGANIZED A COMPANY OF 70 OR 80 MEN AMONG THE FRENCH CREOLES. WITH THIS SLIM FORCE HE PREPARED TO DEFEND THE REGION HE HAD WON.

Publicity Stunt Object Of Russian Trial, Says Visitor

The Russian flair for the dramatic was probably utilized to no little advantage by the Soviet government whose central executive committee "staged" a public trial for eight alleged instigators of a plot to overthrow the regime, is the belief of a New Castle visitor of national reputation who has traveled over the length and breadth of the U. S. S. R.

J. H. Clinton, foreign secretary of the national council of the Y. M. C. A., who spent many years in Russia, who was there a month ago to get first hand data on the Soviet plan, and who was there in 1912 before the Romanoffs had been overthrown by the new order, visited General Secretary R. L. Meermans of the local "Y" Wednesday evening enroute to the Butler "Y" where he was scheduled to make an address.

Clinton spent his time in Russia not as a curious tourist, but as a serious student of affairs who had been sent to that land to compile statistics and to obtain data on conditions and social life of the people in the land of the Communists.

He spoke pleasantly on the changes he found on his latest trip when he stayed there a month and praised the development of the country which, he said, had a future. The trial of the eight political foes, Clinton declared, was a huge piece of propaganda. He said he had surmised to his wife that the condemned men on trial would be given prison sentences and not put to death.

This supposition of Clinton proved correct, according to latest dispatches announcing the Soviet communists' death sentence of five engineers convicted of a plot to overthrow the government to 10 years imprisonment. Sentences of 10 years imprisonment were passed on the remaining three.

News of the trial found nothing to indicate that the trial was not bonafide in all its aspects.

Speaking about the "five year plan" of industrialization by the Soviets, Clinton said that the time for the close of the plan will undoubtedly be extended when the period ends.

According to the plans which comes to an end in October, 1933, that year will mark the close of the first period of industrialization, which began in October, 1928—and attempt to increase the output of metal production double the oil and coal production and in general increase the total output of all industry.

Dog Chases Man, Saves His Life In Queer Manner

(International News Service) CHARLESTON, Pa., Dec. 11.—Because a dog attempted to bite Frank R. Morelen, Pittsburgh salesman, at precisely the same moment that a driverless car came careening down a hill, Morelen was "on the road" in good health today.

Morelen was cranking his car here when the dog leaped at him. The salesman promptly dropped the crank and dove into a nearby store. Breathless, Morelen turned just in time to see a driverless truck swerve crazily down the hill and plunge into the front of his own machine.

HOOR DISCUSSION PROGRAM FEATURE AT PHALANX MEET

A full hour's discussion on "An Invoice of Our Abilities and How We May Invest Them to Better Advantage," featured the usual weekly meeting of the Phalanx, young men's fraternity of the Y. M. C. A., held in the Y last night. Roy McCoy, vice president of the organization, took charge.

The members voted during the evening to tender the customary Christmas treat to the boys of the Scioto street neighborhood house clubs, and December 20 was set as a date. Candy and a free moving picture show will be included.

Rifle Team Formed For State Matches By "F" Guardsmen

Scores Of Locals Sent To Harrisburg; Medals And Bars Will Be Awarded To Troop

Announcement by Troop F officers that a requisition has been submitted to the U. S. Property and Disbursing Office for bars and medals to present guardsmen who have qualified in small arms is followed by information that the troop has at last formed a rifle team which will represent the outfit in inter-city competitions in the near future.

The best "shots" in the troop have been mustered into the team and, if indications are to be considered, the local team will put up a good front before crack rifle team from the state.

The New Castle team is comprised of the following: Sergeants: Seyffert, D. Florida, Stewart, Pollock, J. Vonderau; Corporals: Palmer, Pierce, E. Miller, Hemming; Private: Spiker.

Initial scores of the various teams will be sent to Harrisburg where the high scores of the individual outfits will be weeded out and the best marksmen invited to compete.

Marksmanship and study of the rifle was spurred the last few weeks since the resumption of indoor rifle practice in the Neshannock avenue armory. Each member of the troop has gone out for the practice and records of individual records have been sent to Harrisburg. Now the troop is awaiting eight expert medals, fourteen sharpshooting medals, 41 marksmen's medals and a variety of bars and medals for mounted and dismounted pistol records. The latter were chalked up when the guardsmen still drilled on the Scotland Lane field on horseback.

A new announcement has arrived from Harrisburg, declaring that a small-bore rifle championship competition will be opened to all arms and ranks for the championship of the Pennsylvania National Guard. For the purpose of this march the indoor rifle practice season is divided into two periods as follows:

First period—December 1 to April 30. In this period elimination competitions will be held within regiments between company teams, under conditions to be determined by the regimental or similar commander.

Second period—May 1 to May 31. In this period the teams standing first and second in the regimental elimination competition will participate in a state-wide championship.

Urge Removal Of Women Prisoners

Colorado Claims State Penitentiary Is Overcrowded

(International News Service) DENVER, Dec. 11.—Removal of women prisoners from the Colorado state penitentiary to some other state will be urged to the forthcoming session of the Colorado legislature as one means of lessening crowded conditions in the institution, according to Col. Patrick J. Hamrock, special deputy warden, who was in Denver recently.

Colonel Hamrock was appointed a special warden following the riots at Canon City a year ago last October.

Maintenance of a special women's prison within the penitentiary Hamrock pointed out, has been very expensive and the expense has been out of all proportion to the benefits derived. At present there are only 15 women prisoners from Colorado and three from other states in the institution.

The women's building, Hamrock said, could easily house 50 male prisoners. This space is badly needed in view of the fact that the population of the prison is steadily increasing and is now above the 1,000 mark. The present housing facilities were designed for less than 700 prisoners.

The women prisoners could be taken care of in some other state for less money than it costs to keep them at Canon City, according to Col. Hamrock.

Plan Improvements To Retain Air Line

(International News Service) CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 11.—Immediate expenditures of $10,000 for improvements on the Cheyenne municipal airport is planned as a means of keeping Cheyenne on the transcontinental air line.

William Mackenzie, inspector for the department of commerce told city officials that this amount would be needed to keep Cheyenne in the A-1 rating. Mackenzie said that the aim of the department of commerce is to permit transcontinental carriers to land only on airports of A-1 rating.

City officials have assured Mackenzie that the necessary amount will be expended before next year, when the ruling goes into effect.

(International News Service) CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 11.—In response to Secretary of War Patrick Hurley's request that military facilities of the country be utilized for the benefit of the unemployed, Governor Frank C. Emerson has offered national guard armories throughout Wyoming for the use of local relief agencies.

THOUSANDS OF "it's" MOTORISTS SAY: extra IN EVERYTHING BUT PRICE" the new ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH extra quality in every essential ... no extra cost

WE KNEW when we first brought out ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH that it was the finest motor fuel on the market... unequaled by any competitive product out of the scores examined in our laboratories. But we have been genuinely surprised at the number of unsolicited letters from motorists who have proved this superiority for themselves—in their own cars. A gasoline that wins the kind of praise ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH has been getting, must be good!

Here are some excerpts:

"I put ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH to every conceivable test... thoroughly convinced it is far superior to any fuel I have ever used."

"The car seemed as though it had a few cylinders added to it. It always did have a wonderful getaway, but it never had the power it has now."

"The first regular-gasoline priced fuel I've ever seen that would give 100 per cent performance and not 'ping' under any kind of pull."

"I never would have believed any new product could cause so much interest."

"Finest fuel I've ever had in my truck."

"Just returned from a gunning trip covering more than 300 miles over the mountains. My car performed better than at any time since I've had it."

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH seems better because it is deliberately made better. First we developed in our laboratory a scientific formula for the very best gasoline for the modern automobile-engine. Then we set out to achieve that formula. Only the choicest of crudes carefully selected from the world's oil-fields are used. Improved refining processes contribute greatly. New methods of testing insure unvarying quality.

The result is a gasoline that has more power, flashing pick-up, instant-starting qualities, and true economy built into it than any motor fuel you've ever known. You will notice the difference with your very first tankful. Get that tankful today. The chances are you'll feel like writing us: "I agree! It's extra in everything but price."

Sugar Is Gas For Engine Of The Body

Sweet Diet Crowds Out Needed Foods, Says Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Judging by statistics, sugar is rapidly becoming the most popular form of food. In 1871 the average amount of sugar consumed per inhabitant in the United States was 36 pounds. In 1926 it was 121 pounds. In France in 1871 it was 17 pounds, in 1926 it was 44 pounds. In Great Britain in 1871 it was 44 pounds, in 1926 it was 95 pounds.

It is generally estimated that a healthy adult should eat about 400 grams of carbohydrate (sugar and starch) a day. It is the gas for your engine. The quickest form of energy. At this rate a healthy adult will consume 300 pounds of carbohydrate a year. Get a pile of 300 pounds of sugar delivered in your kitchen and take a look at your personal coal bin or gas tank for the year.

There is no certain danger in all this although a good deal of speculation has developed. Unquestionably obesity has increased during the period indicated. And diabetes, and other diseases have likewise increased. There is a suggestion that ulcer of the stomach or duodenum may result from eating too much sugar. The stomach itself has no provision for digesting carbohydrates; this function is carried on in the intestine. If sugars and starches stay in the stomach for any length of time decomposition may occur and irritating substances, such as lactic acid, acetic acid, butyric acid and valeric acid may develop and cause an increase of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which may help form an ulcer. Patients with ulcer do not like sweets probably for this reason. But the whole subject is speculative and not proved. A more reasonable danger from eating too much sweets is that they will crowd out other—fresh, vitamin-containing—foods out of the dietary. This is especially a danger for children, but has been known for many years and echoed in the familiar cry: "Willie, don't touch that candy; it will spoil your appetite for dinner."

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
M. J. B. Rochester, N. Y.: "I have cooked food in aluminum dishes for 25 years. Very recently I was told this is one of the causes of cancer. I banished 'agateware' from my kitchen on account of the easily chipped glass surface, which I was told caused appendicitis. This rather puts me in the position of choosing the one with the less evil effect."
Answer: Cooking in aluminum will not cause cancer, and "ground glass" will not cause appendicitis. Dr. McCollum, of Johns Hopkins hospital, has shown that even if aluminum is added to food in considerable quantities no harm results.

When I was in army service there was a scare rumor started that German spies were putting ground glass in the American doughboy's food. We could not find any ground glass, but a husky sergeant offered to eat some ground glass to watch its effect. He did so for several weeks, and remained in the best of health.

The articles are: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

Oh, boy! no more colds

SOUNDS like magic. No more colds!
What wouldn't you give to go through the winter without them?

Here is one sensible thing you can do. A preventive measure that doctors recommend.

Every night snuff a little "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly up the nostrils. It coats the membranes of the nasal passages. According to doctors, germs are not likely to get in their deadly work if these sensitive membranes are fortified against them by lubrication.

When you are outdoors on a dusty, windy day, use "Vaseline" Jelly in the nostrils to relieve that tickle. The tube is convenient to carry, so you can always have it with you when you need it.

If the throat feels husky, take a teaspoonful of the Jelly and swallow it. Radio stars, whose voices mean their bread and butter, have learned this trick. You can profit from it too.

Lay in a supply of "Vaseline" Jelly—in jars or tubes—at the nearest store. Use it regularly every night.

To Reproduce Colonial Forge

Old Colonial Blacksmith Shop To Be Constructed In Pennsylvania Park

(International News Service)
NORRISTOWN, Pa., Dec. 11.—A reproduction of a colonial forge, adjacent to the ruins of the original forge, will be constructed at Valley Forge park in the near future. A resolution declaring the site a proper one has been adopted by the park commission and condemnation proceedings to acquire the land have been begun.

The site of the forge which gave the locality its name was, for years, a matter of dispute. Tradition placed the site at a point established last year, but many historians lacked belief in the authenticity of word-of-mouth locations. Search disclosed a sketch written by Isaac Anderson about a quarter of a century after the forge was burned by British troops in the autumn of 1777, and excavations started at the site named in the sketch resulted in the finding of parts of the original forge.

Covered by several feet of silt, the foundation walls, board flooring, water wheels, tools, a dam and sluice-way were finally uncovered, and the site proclaimed the authentic one of the colonial forge.

The replica to be constructed by the park commission will follow the original model and be as exact a duplication as well be possible to construct.

Indian Athlete Denies Demise

Like Mark Twain, Frank Mount Pleasant Says Report Is "Greatly Exaggerated"

(International News Service)
CARLISLE, Pa., Dec. 11.—Frank Mount Pleasant, famed old time athlete of the Carlisle Indian School and Dickinson college, is not dead. Mount Pleasant wants that definitely understood. Recently, it was reported that he had died from a stomach ailment in a Minneapolis, Minn., hospital while engaged in secret service work. Many of his friends here were saddened at the news.

The reports finally reached Buffalo, N. Y., where Mount Pleasant, hale and hearty, after the first gasp of amazement, sat down and wrote Gilbert Malcomb, Dickinson treasurer, that like Mark Twain, the report of his death had been "greatly exaggerated."

Union Defeats Evans City In Opening Battle

Union High Quintet Gets Away To Fine Start On 1930-31 Floor Season

FINAL SCORE
IS 24 TO 10

Union High school varsity basketball team, got away to an auspicious start in the first game of the 1930-31 season last night, by defeating the strong Evans City High quintet. The score was 24 to 10. The game was played at Union High gym. It was the first game of the year for both teams.

The Boyd coached machine made the W. P. I. A. L. members look ragged. Evans City only had three field goals against the clever guarding of the Union sentinels, and in the final three quarters only made one bucket. Union looked ragged in their floor work, losing the ball a number of times for travelling. The game was very fast. Both teams were bothered somewhat by the hot weather, which made the gym rather stuffy. Coach Boyd used his entire squad, keeping fresh men on the floor at all times.

Union Takes Lead
Union High led at the first quarter 5 to 4. At the end of the first half the score favored Union 14 to 7. Union picked up six more points in the third quarter, with Evans City being held scoreless. The third quarter found Union ahead 20 to 7. In the final quarter the Unionites piled up four more points to three for the Butler Countians.

Lannigan, Jaworski, and Augustyn led the attack for Union with three baskets apiece. Myers and Gilbach scored for Evans City, the former having two baskets. Union on the foul line was not so good only making half of their tries 4 out of 8, while Evans City had 4 out of 6.

Zelenople, another of the Section Three W. P. I. A. L. teams will meet Union High on Friday night at the Union High floor, and Coach Boyd's team will fight hard to make it two straight wins for the season.

Adrian To Play At Westminster

Michigan Team Is Added To Grid Schedule For Next Year

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 11.—Graduate Manager Andy McDonald announced yesterday that Adrian College of Michigan has been scheduled for the open date, Oct. 3, on the 1931 football card at Westminster College. The Michigan team will be played at New Wilmington. Adrian and Westminster have never before met on the grid, although the two colleges have opposed each other before in basketball. Next fall Adrian will play Allegheny, John Carroll, and Westminster on the grid.
The addition of the Adrian contest gives Westminster a nine-game schedule, all contests with class B teams. Slippery Rock, Juniata, Edinboro, Allegheny, Grove City, Thiel, Waynesburg and Geneva are the others on the 1931 grid schedule of the Titans.
With only four men lost from this year's team, Westminster should have the nucleus for a strong outfit next season, and with all contests arranged with colleges in its own class it should be able to have a good season's record.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The featherweight situation was garbled somewhat last night when Eddie Shea, Chicago, defeated Fidel La Barba in a 10-round bout at Cleveland. Fidel recently beat Kid Chocolate and is now under contract for a second bout with the Cuban. Shea recently knocked out Johnny Datto and having vanquished La Barba has entered the limelight and may get a top shot in New York.

Jackie Fields, former world's welterweight champion, fought in another 10-round bout on the Cleveland card and succeeded in defeating Paul Pirrone. Fields' flashing speed and boxing skill won nine of the ten rounds and Referee Matt Brock didn't hesitate in raising in arm in token of his victory. Jonny Farr outfought Ray Miller, Chicago, and Ollie Barlett beat Mickey Cohen. Martin Zuniga won a technical kayo over Marshall Couette, who has fought here.

It didn't take Nick Polis long to put the quietus on Charles Tarzan at Aliquippa last night. In fact, it took Nick only one round and the main bout was over. Both have fought here. Nick was the chief rival of Elmo the Mighty and Tarzan is the chap who fought Tom McCafferty. Nick Adama beat Jack O'Brien and his slashing fight won him another chance at Aliquippa.

Barner Dreyfuss yesterday was re-elected president of the Pirates.

Jack Sharkey has signed to fight Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world, in New York. The bout will take place next summer.

President Hoover will not attend the Army-Navy football game at New York. He found it impossible to attend and gave his tickets to the Salvation Army for resale.

The game will start at 8:30 o'clock. The final workout for the high school players will be held this afternoon at the Senior high gymnasium. Wednesday afternoon's session was a scrimmage affair in which the second team looked impressive against the varsity. The first team consisted of Wamio at center, Nick Uram and McAuley at guards and Rowe and Lasky at forwards.

The second team was made up of John Grommes at center, Marvin and B. Grommes at forward, and Copper and Ostrosky at guards. A long scrimmage gave nearly all the second and third string men a chance to show their wares. J. Uram and James Shaffer also saw action as varsity men for a short time.

Forgot To Check Time On Grid Game

(International News Service)
GAMBIER, O., Dec. 11.—Because the time-keepers became more interested in watching the game than they were in watching the clock, the football teams of Kenyon and Mount Union colleges played a 25-minute quarter in their gridiron clash here.
The long quarter occurred in the third period when the officials forgot to look at their watches and allowed the usual 15 minutes to extend to 25.
Kenyon's 63-2 walloping at the hands of Mt. Union will not be protested, athletic officials said.

Titular Game For Independent Crown Will Be Played Saturday, 2:30 O'Clock

TEAMS ARE BITTER GRIDIRON RIVALS

One of the best independent football games enacted here in years is expected to be played on next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Taggart field when the Marcellas and Croton meet in a benefit game for the unemployed, and for the independent championship of the city. This game will mark the second meeting between the teams in the season. The two teams battling to a 0-0 tie. The independent league closed recently and it was found that the Marcellas and Croton were tied for the title this season.

The South Siders think they are supreme on the gridiron over the Crotonites and the Croton boys feel the same. So they will have their chance on next Saturday to see which is the best on the football field. Neither team has received a setback this season.

Both elevens have been practicing for the past weeks for this contest. In Alexander, P. Coluluca, Cutler, and R. Colalucia the Croton team has a quartet of gridirons whom they claim will cause the Marcellas plenty of trouble. The South Siders will bank on their "speed aces," Richard, DiThomas, Genock, Mike, and Beres. Both teams are set for this tilt.

Tickets for this game were placed on sale on Wednesday. The price to see this game is 50 and 25 cents. The gate receipts will be presented to Mayor William Gillespie's committee who will distribute returns in the best way they see fit. Efforts are being made to secure three local young men to donate their services as officials for the contest. They are Ray Nolte, Sam Richards, and Dave Hoskins of the Beaver Valley Officials' Association.

After Carideo had returned from the Pacific coast where Notre Dame won from Southern California, E. F. Strizzi was authorized to communicate with the brainy quarterback.

Strizzi telephoned Carideo last night at South Bend and the quarterback in accepting the invitation said he would only be too glad to come to this city.

During his stay here he will be the house guest of E. F. Strizzi and Vito Conti.

Carideo, Duffield And Newman Among Best Quarters—Locke

Southern California

NEWMAN
Michigan

CARIDEO
Notre Dame

By GORDON LOCKE
All-American Quarterback—1922
An Exclusive Interview for Central Press and New Castle News.

An outstanding quarterback of present day football is one of the game's rarities.

The requirements of a quarterback in modern football are extremely exacting. As the game is played today the quarterback must be proficient in the following duties:

1—On offense he must be a capable field general.

2—He must be able to perform all the duties required of the other backfield men, as well. He must be able to run with the ball, pass, receive passes, run interference and block.

3—On defense the quarterback usually plays in the safety position and as such must be a sure, hard tackler, a good punt handler and must be efficient in the art of forward pass defense.

Hence, it can be readily seen that the quarterback's job, in addition to its own peculiarities, includes all the duties of the other backs in the mechanics of football.

In addition, the quarterback must be a natural leader and extremely smart in the ways of football so that he can call the best plays while his team is on the offensive.

Picks Carideo As No. 1

There were many good quarterbacks this season.

Five spring instantly to mind.
Each of this quintet come closer to fulfilling my idea of what a quarterback should be than any of the others I have heard about, read about or come in contact with this season.

My first choice is Frank Carideo of Notre Dame. His brilliance of play is familiar news to all football followers. He was an exceptional man in an exceptional backfield of an exceptional team!

Next to Carideo must be placed Marshall Duffield who carried the ball so successfully this season for Southern California that he was virtually a halfback calling signals.
He was a leading scorer on the Pacific coast.

Third is Bob Dodd of Tennessee, just about the smartest signal caller in the south.

Trix Bennett of Princeton played with a weak team but his ability and performance must give him fourth place.

Harry Newman of Michigan, one of the "finds" of the season, is fifth.

Other Quarterbacks

The list of quarterbacks who have come in for praise this season seems almost endless. By sections, some of them were:

East—Booth of Yale, Baker of Pittsburgh, Morton of Dartmouth, Scalzi of Georgetown, and Wood of Harvard.

Mid-west — White of Purdue, Hinchman of Ohio State, Hanley of Northwestern, and Mills of Oklahoma.

South—Branch of North Carolina and Cain of Alabama.

Southwest — Leland of Texas Christian.

Far west—Davis of Utah, Mohler of Southern California (the Trojans had two outstanding quarters this year) and Boyle of St.
Mary's.

NEXT—Maulbetsch of Michigan tells you about the halfbacks.

WANT GAMES

Shenango Juniors would like to book games with any fast team ranging in age from 15 to 16 years.

SWEET, BUT SHORT

Young Yankees Win Second Game

On Wednesday night at the Wampump gymnasium the Young Yankees won their second consecutive floor game by defeating the Wampum High Stars. The final score was 11 to 9.

The game was close and interesting throughout. The Wampum five led at the end of the first quarter.
After the opening quarter the Yankees secured a small lead and held it throughout.

The summary:
Young Yankees 11 Wampum 9

Nick Adamo Wins From Jack O'Brien

Nick Adamo, Seventh ward middleweight defeated Jack O'Brien in a six round bout last night at Aliquippa and making his first appearance in the Beaver Valley made a hit with the fans.

Adamo took the fight on short notice, according to Bob Latera who took the middleweight to Aliquippa.
He wasn't in the pink of condition
but was plenty too good for O'Brien, according to Latera.

no criticisms.—George Eliot.

Army-Navy Will Battle Saturday In Grudge Event

Wealth Of Tradition And Glamor Of Rivalry Between Service Schools

TOUGH ENCOUNTER IS ANTICIPATED

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Two members of New York's army of unemployed were selling apples in front of City Hall. Business being rather dull, one vendor began retailing the fruit at two for a nickel. Trade became brisk.

The other apple man, now making no sales at all at the regular price of five cents an apple, saw red and landed a honey of an uppercut on the chin of the cut-rate man. A crowd gathered and witnessed a corking street fight. After it was over, the gratified spectators bought out the supply of both apple men, and everybody was happy.

Grudge Fight

The Army-Navy football game at Yankee Stadium on Saturday is going to be like that. The prospect of a real grudge fight between the two eleven will draw more spectators than all the pleas for charity, the sob stories about the suffering of the unemployed, the society teas, radio addresses and Hoover-autographed footballs combined.
Many members of the service academy teams have never seen an Army-Navy football game. And the seniors were plebes in 1927, when the last contest was played. But in those three years all have absorbed the wealth of tradition and the glamour of rivalry attached to this most famous of football spectacles. They have heard about it, read about it, some have seen it,

and every man back of them is itching to get into this year's classic and play his head off.

For instance, there is Magruder Tuttle, a minister's son who played centre on the Duke freshman eleven.
He wanted to play in an Army-Navy game so badly that he enlisted in the navy as a goby in order to gain an appointment to Annapolis. On Saturday he will realize his great ambition—playing against the Army.
Tuttle is heavyweight boxing champion at Annapolis, and any Cadet player who gets in his way on Saturday will be in for a rough afternoon.

HOW TO BUY USED CARS

There are just two ways of selecting a used car. One of them is making a few haphazard calls on second hand dealers, probably passing up the best buy of all. The other is by checking through the used car columns of this paper, noting what appears to be the three or four best buys, and making your selection from among these offers.

U. S. Steel Leader In Days Market Trading

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Most of the active stocks started the day at lower prices, but in confusion in the stock market attended the formal announcement of the taking over of the bank of United States by the State Banking Department.

It was well known in Wall street that the bankers had been working on a plan either to merge the bank with others, or to safeguard the interests of the depositors, and that will doubtless be accomplished by the banking department.

The opening gong on the stock exchange found a fairly heavy accumulation of selling orders, which were put through at a point, or less under the final prices yesterday. U. S. Steel lost a point, New York Central 2 points and most of the well known speculative favorites reacted only fractionally. Transactions in the first half-hour totaled 425,000 shares.

Moderate rallies near the end of the first hour carried prices of the favorites a point or so from the bottom, but the market ran into another deluge of selling orders at that time, and the rally was promptly blocked, for the time being at least.

The market action of United States Steel was under the closest scrutiny by traders. The stock opened at 140, down a point, rallied to 140 1/2 and dropped off to 138 1/2.

Johns Manville lost an additional 3 points at 54, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and other leading stocks broke through to lower levels, with losses of 2 to 3 points.

The Power stocks were again under pressure, American and Foreign Power dropping to 30 1/2 for a new loss of 2 points.

The market firmed up near the noon period. Ready buyers were found from weak holdings and trading slowed up considerably. The shrinkage of bank stock prices in the unlisted markets carried the active shares to the low levels on the move, but trading was dull at the low prices.

Commodity markets were fairly steady, with prices of Cotton and Grain slightly lower. Call money was unchanged at 2 per cent.

Drunken Driver Carries Own Snake

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 11.—Police here have had plenty of experience with intoxicated men, but not until today did they meet one who carried his own snakes.

When the man was carried to jail an automobile he had been driving went to the city's impounding lot.

Attendants there opened the door of the machine to be greeted to their consternation, by the sight of a seven foot rattlesnake, coiled on the floor and waving his tail in a questionable manner.

The car door slammed shut. And it stayed shut until the owner of the car was released from jail the next day. His owner, coaxed Bosco, that was the snake's name, back into a gilded cage and turning to the parking lot attendant, said:

"He's a pet," and then drove happily away.

The decision was in the case of Herbert L. Pangburn, of Jarbridge, against the U. S. Veterans' Bureau in which evidence showed that Pangburn while serving in France with the 27th Engineers contracted arthritis. After he left the service, his $10,000 war risk insurance was permitted to lapse.

The plaintiff contended Pangburn was suffering from the affliction which caused his disablement, before his insurance was permitted to lapse.

The verdict gives Pangburn $57, 50 per month, dating from November 1, 1918, the date his disability began.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

This gadget we call the radio has been a boon to humanity of course, we won't argue the point. And of course it opened up a world of entertainment for the folks at home. It developed a new industry and gave ordinary looking singers a chance to build up reputations. All of these things are true.

But in addition to the benefits it brought, there are some disadvantages. There's the disadvantage of living across the street from the fellow who runs it full blast at midnight, or the lad who insists upon hearing nothing but stock reports and speeches. The biggest disadvantage radio has brought is that it has nearly killed off the classical concert.

A few years ago New Castle knew the leaders in the concert field. Ponselle, Werrenath, Ellie Ney, Pablo Casals, the Flonzaleys, Cruz, Whitehouse, May Peterson, Munz, Grainger, these and a host of others were here in concert. Then the perfection of radio sets and concert managers were writing it on the cuff all over the country.

Culture became one of the canned products just like corned beef and fig pudding; concerts were a matter of turning a dial, and woe to the artist whose voice didn't reproduce well. Concerts, except in the larger cities curled up and in the past three seasons it has been a tough road.

Now it is beginning to dawn upon us that a mechanical gadget can't replace flesh and blood entirely. No sound box of wood and steel can replace the human throat, and the radio seems to have paralleled to some extent the history of the talking machine. We have come to the place where the wonderment of this marvelous invention has been replaced with a matter of factness, and now we find that there is a hunger for personal appearances that can not be assuaged through horns or speakers.

You may wonder why this philosophizing. The answer is that last night I dropped in to hear Margherita Salvi, a vest pocket sized coloratura of the Chicago Civic Opera, and found that the concert was satisfying a hunger that I hardly knew had existed. Just like a chap snacking all week on sandwiches who sits down to a seven course dinner on Saturday night. The sandwiches prevented starvation but they didn't provide the satisfaction and joy that the dinner did.

Part of this satisfaction last night must be ascribed to this petite Spanish singer. No singer in years has scored so well on a first appearance and while she is minute as to size, she has a voice that belies her weight.

Coloraturas are either very good or very bad. There is no middle ground. When they are good they're very very good, and when they are bad, they're terrible. Margherita Salvi was good, more, she was splendid, she was satisfying, she was superb.

The young lady is from "Madagascar," has eyes that seem to smolder, hair like a raven's wing, and a personality that bubbles over like an overcarbonated beverage. She doesn't speak good English, but eyes and actions know no nationality.

The young lady was brought here by the Civic Music association and if this organization continues bringing such talent here, the high school auditorium should be too small to accommodate the crowd. Should be I say, although perhaps the day is still far distant when such crowds can be secured.

But it's coming it seems to me. In your experience you have seen the auditorium packed to the back walls to hear Ponselle or Gluck. Salvi deserved such a crowd. But the swing towards personal appearances is just getting into its stride, we are not yet away from the mechanical influences of the radio. But it's coming.

And when it does come, when people once more decide that they want to see the artist as well as hear her, remember this, that in the lean days, the Civic Music association kept plugging along, hitting a line of indifference that seemed impervious to attack, keeping together the organization that can give us classical music at five and ten cent store prices, if you'll just help them a bit.
